

5000 U. S. TROOPS MOBILIZED ON BORDER

DEATH TOLL IN BELFAST 34

Disorders Continue—Ulster Hall Seized for Use of Troops, Now in City

Collins Back in Dublin—Satisfied With Results of London Conference

British Evacuation of Southern Ireland to be Resumed

Forthwith

BELFAST, Feb. 16 (by the Associated Press).—The authorities today announced that the death toll in the disorders in Belfast had reached 34. The toll was increased by the death of a 5-year-old child, who was struck by a bullet while playing in the street yesterday.

A workman proceeding along Seaford street, in the Ballymacarrett area, was shot dead.

Youthful gunmen held by workers in the law market district and wounded one of them.

An attempt was made this forenoon to burn the disused workhouse at Strabane, North Tyrone, which the military had signified their intention of occupying this week. A police patrol noticed flames proceeding from the structure and the entire force was mobilized and checked the fire. Examination showed that petrol had been strewn over the stairs and bedding. The district hospital adjoins the workhouse.

The firearms act is now in force in Northern Ireland and the authorities announce that it will be strictly adhered to. The possession or sale of firearms without police certificates is punishable by two years' hard labor. The period of license for the surrender of arms expires Saturday in Belfast, and February 25 elsewhere.

LONDON, Feb. 16 (by the Associated Press).—Michael Collins' return to Dublin after only 13 hours in London and his admission that he was not dissatisfied with the results of his conference with government officials here, are taken to mean that the British evacuation of Southern Ireland will be resumed forthwith, and continue uninterrupted.

This will relieve the situation of one of its most serious features. No official explanation of the assurances given Mr. Collins, however, has yet been made.

No troops have been moved from the south since Monday except the 400 cavalrymen who sailed at Dublin for Liverpool last night. The other troops which arrived in Dublin on Monday are still there.

Notwithstanding the declarations that several kidnapped unionists were released yesterday, only three have reached their homes, according to the latest despatches from Belfast, where there is no relief in the tension pending the arrival of the others.

The house of commons was again to take up today the bill establishing the Irish Free State, Mr. Churchill moving the second reading. The debate is expected to occupy at least two days. Best informed opinion at the moment is that opponents will not prove numerous enough to prevent passage of the bill.

The strike in Belfast, which yesterday went from bad to worse, is causing the greatest concern to the local authorities, whose efforts to stop the disorders have failed.

TEXTILE COUNCIL HEARS MAJOR MacBRAYNE'S STATEMENT ON STRIKE PREPARATIONS

Asked Why He Mobilized Police Before Any Strike Was Declared—Admitted as Military Man His Course Might Have Been Hasty—Criticized Newspapers, Particularly The Sun—Mr. Regan Criticized His Course—Some Questions Asked by Newspapermen—The Verdict Pronounced by Mr. Regan

After listening to Major MacBrayne's explanation of his police mobilization in preparation for a strike, and his attitude toward certain newspapers at an open meeting of the Lowell Textile Council last evening, National Organizer Thomas J. Regan of the United Textile Workers of America, expressed the opinion that the present chief of police had acted too hastily; that he should have waited at least until the strike occurred before coming out in the press with stories of police mobilization even before any strike was declared and when not even Agent Milliken, of the Hamilton Manufacturing Co. knew for a certainty that there would be a strike.

Several Milk Producers Are Planning to do Their Own Distributing

Largest Milk Distributors Will Refuse to Pay Five-Cent Increase

Farmers in the vicinity of Lowell who are producing milk in large quantities and who are determined to hold or dump it on the ground rather than accept the new reduced price of 50 cents per quart and one-half quart can offered by the distributors, declared today that some of their number would start routes of their own and engage in peddling to Lowell consumers.

Several large distributors declared that they had no intention of giving the extra five cents demanded by the country producers.

"Why should we pay more, when in some towns close to Lowell we can get milk for less than 50 cents?"

HEARING IS POSTPONED

Hearing on Petitions for Writs of Mandamus Will Be Held Next Week

The hearing which was to have been held today before the supreme judicial court on questions of law on the petitions for writs of mandamus by Mayor George H. Brown and Maj. W. C. MacBrayne and was postponed until tomorrow because of the illness of Justice J. J. Connelley, will not be held until some day next week.

When it became necessary to postpone the hearing from today the case naturally moved into the list for tomorrow, but instead of attempting to obtain sufficient time for the arguments, with the several other cases also set for hearing on that day, attorneys John M. O'Donoghue and Jas. J. Kerwin deemed it advisable to request the clerk of the court to obtain a definite assignment from the justice at some convenient time next week.

"I agreed to attend in the case in the case to be filed with the court has not yet been completed, but will be before the end of the present week."

Pres. Harding Tells Congress General Sales Tax Only Feasible Method to Raise Funds For Bonus

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—President Harding informed congress today he considered a general sales tax the only feasible method of raising funds for a soldier bonus.

"The executive in a letter addressed to Chairman Fordney of the house ways and means committee suggested that unless congress saw fit to enact a sales tax, passage of bonus legislation should be temporarily postponed. 'I believe,' the president wrote, 'the American people will accept the levy of a general sales tax to meet the proposed bonus payments, and we should contribute thereby no added difficulties to the problems of readjustment. It seems well not to add such a plan it would be wise to let the legislation go over until there is a situation which will justify the large outlay.'"

Declaring that the government had under consideration the disposition of surplus war properties and other transactions which should bring "credit" to the treasury, the president said it would be wise to let the legislation go over if congress did not deem it advisable to adopt the sales tax.

Situation More Complicated

The president's letter was regarded generally at the capitol as leaving the bonus situation even more complicated than before. Senate and house sub-committees were to meet late in the day to receive and consider the White House communication.

When the sales tax was discussed in the sub-committees last week, it is understood that senators were informed that less than 10 republican votes in the house could be mustered for a sales tax as a method of financing the adjusted compensation. Such a tax had been considered by house leaders as a possibility but virtually had been discarded.

TAYLOR STOCK AND MONEY GONE

Investigator Reports Oil Stock and Money Missing From Slain Man's Home

District Attorney Plans to Question Witnesses at Their Homes

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 16.—Oil stock and money, believed to have constituted part of the estate of William Desmond Taylor, murdered film director, are missing, according to Charles E. Jones, investigator for the district attorney.

Jones made this statement after checking up Taylor's papers and belongings, and then conferring with Mr. R. Berger, an income tax expert, with whom Taylor is said to have discussed his 1921 income tax report a short time before he was killed.

From this it was learned, according to Jones, that Taylor was prepared to pay a tax on securities and money which have not been located.

Further investigation into the murder was planned for today. District Attorney Woolwine stated witnesses would be questioned at their homes by his agents. It was believed the public by attending their visits to his office would be furnished with information in themselves what might prove valuable clues.

Two disturbances of more than ordinary intensity were noted on the coast off Cape Hatteras, moving northeast, and the other over British Columbia.

ARREST IRISH ARMY OFFICERS

Sensation Caused at Newry by Action of Ulster Special Constables

Local Commandant of Irish Republic Army and Two Other Officers Taken

BELFAST, Feb. 16 (by the Associated Press).—A sensation has been caused at Newry by the arrest by Ulster special constables of Seamus Monaghan, local commandant of the Irish republican army, and two other republican officers, Patrick and Michael Murney.

The officers were proceeding from Killeel, County Down, in the direction of Killybegs, when captured. They were taken to Llanerco, where they were searched, and afterwards were conveyed to the Newry military barracks under heavy escort.

The Murneys are brothers of P. Murney, chairman of the Killeel board of guardians.

It is stated that an automatic pistol was found in the possession of Monaghan and seditious literature in the pockets of the two Murneys.

Subsequently John Ashdown and Richard Moran were arrested by other special constables near the Silent Valley reservoir, the source of Belfast's water supply.

Five young men, arrested at Hilltown, South Down, on Friday, after the funeral of a Sinn Féin commandant, will be tried at Rathfriland tomorrow, one of them charged with carrying a rifle and the others with unlawful assemblage.

Although no charges were preferred against Seamus Monaghan and Patrick and Michael Murney, the Irish republican officers who were arrested at Newry by Ulster special constables, according to information received in Dublin today, considerable tension prevails in the Newry district.

Friends who saw him at the Newry barracks yesterday declared his nose and face bore evidence of severe injuries.

The residence of Commandant Monaghan's father, at Hilltown, was twice raided by armed specials on Tuesday and again at mid-night last night, according to information received in Dublin today. Considerable tension prevails in the Newry district.

HOME BREW HITS TORONTO BREWERS

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—Toronto brewers have asked the government for protection against the home-made beverage. Many men employed by beer manufacturers have been laid off recently because of home brew competition.

Under the Ontario law, beer with an alcoholic content of 2 1/2 per cent is regarded as "home brewed beer."

The brewers complain that their product cannot compete with home-made beer of unlimited alcoholic content.

They were mobilized last night when rumors were scattered in Juarez and El Paso that 3000 men were assembling in the hills south of Juarez and that the Juarez garrison was expected to "revolt."

Juarez military and civilian officials strongly denied each report, but admitted they are aware that revolutionists are trying to recruit men in Chihuahua.

CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW NOT LOVER OF SPORTS

BY EDWARD M. THERREY
NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(Times of Living)—of eating, of sleeping, of physical exercise, of rest—mean nothing to Chauncey M. Depew.
He will be 83 on April 23, and he is at his desk daily as chairman of the board of directors of the New York Central railroad.
"Are you immune?" I asked him.
"No, I am not," he said, "but I am immune by Dr. Eugene Lyman Fisk, head of the Life Extension Institute, that Americans are 'rushing madly to the grave' by too much haste, too little play, too many stimulants of mind and body, too little walking—thus mortality among persons over 40 is increasing."
"People will say I'm boasting," smiled Mr. Depew. "I never bothered about rules of living. I don't know whether I'm immune or not. I just keep on going.

"Work won't kill you. But you shouldn't work at the same thing all the time. Variety is just enough."
The former senator said he didn't mean changing jobs. He has been with the New York Central 56 years, but in between he has been a big figure in politics, served 12 years in the United States senate, and has probably made more public speeches than any other single individual.
"I never take physical exercise," he said. "Mental exercise does me all the good I need."
"That's work, isn't it?" I asked him.
"Not what doctors call rest."
"I work every day," he said. "When I want to rest I write a speech."
Mr. Depew, famous as an after-dinner speaker and public orator, says he still delivers two or three speeches a month.
"That's pretty good for a fellow going on 83," he said, with a smile in his clear blue eyes.
Refusing to sit down, he stood and walked about his office as he talked—a stocky, well built figure, healthy looking in face and form, his white hair and white side-whiskers the only sign of age.
A warning by Dr. Fisk is that "we are forgetting ourselves with stimulants as we gallop through life." Besides tea, coffee, tobacco and alcohol, stimulants listed by Dr. Fisk include automobiles and street cars "which seduce us from walking, robbing us of the physical exercise imperatively necessary for health."
"I never walked for exercise," Mr. Depew said. "I never played golf. I never rode horseback. I never played tennis. I never went hunting. I never played baseball—never even saw a baseball game. Even fishing never lured me."
Mr. Depew is taking his vacation this winter in Florida. His rest will consist of reading—and writing a few speeches.
Stimulants do not bother him.
"I eat what I want," he says. "I work until I get tired. Then I rest. We do not all rest the same way. The way I do it doesn't seem to do me much harm."
The former senator smiled and said he hoped to celebrate his 83rd birthday by working his regular hours at his desk in Grand Central Terminal.

STILL ALARM
A still alarm was sent in at 12:55 o'clock this morning for a slight blaze in the flooring of the storehouse of the A. C. Polaris Co. in Middle Street. After rapping in a few boards in the floor, the alarm was sounded. In extinguishing the blaze before any serious damage was done it is believed the fire was caused by rats and matches.

Fahnenstiel, who designed the thermometer bearing his name, died in 1726.

FOUR POWER TREATY

Pacific Pact Again Assumes Prominent Place in Senate Affairs

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The four power Pacific treaty which was negotiated at the Washington conference again assumed today a prominent place in senate affairs both on the senate floor and before the foreign relations committee.

Pending before the senate was the resolution of Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, ranking democrat on the committee, to ask President Harding to transmit to the senate additional information and documents relating to the treaty's negotiation. Before the senate convened today, the foreign relations committee was called to resume consideration of the treaty, which began last Saturday.

The return from Massachusetts today of Senator Lodge, committee chairman and one of the American delegates to the arms conference, was expected to result in definite action on the Hitchcock resolution. The republican leaders also were planning to press committee action on the four power and other conference treaties.

On the Hitchcock resolution, which was expected to have the support of republicans, reluctant to accept the four power treaty, administration leaders said that little, if any, documents or other information was in the hands of the president or the state department which has not already been transmitted formally to the senate.

Mr. Hitchcock, however, has declared that the American delegates' report contained virtually nothing on the negotiation of this treaty. This was said by administration leaders to be because practically all of the negotiations were oral and few minutes or notes were kept of the conversations.

The British government plans to place a school within reach of every child in Palestine.

SOME PUDDING SAUCES

Sister Mary Tells How to Make Several New Ones—They're Quite Delicious

Perhaps you are tired of whipped cream and hard sauce as company pudding sauces.

This orange sauce is delicious over a baked or steamed fruit pudding. The pudding will serve eight copiously or 10 comfortably. The pudding uses the yolks and the sauce the whites of the eggs, but the sauce might be used with an eggless steamed pudding and the yolks used for salad dressing.

Orange Sauce

Three eggs (whites), 1 1/4 cups powdered sugar, 1 lemon (juice), 2 oranges.

Beat whites of eggs with a whisk till stiff and dry. Sift sugar slowly into whites, beating constantly. Add the grated rind of both the oranges. Slowly beat in the strained juice of the lemon and orange. Beat well and serve soon after making. If the sauce must stand any length of time beat well before serving as the fruit juice separates slightly.

Mock Whipped Cream

Two eggs (whites), 1 cup powdered sugar, 1 large apple.

Grate apple into bowl, add sugar

and egg whites and beat with a dower beater till stiff.

Cold Sauce

One cup powdered sugar, 1-2 cup butter, 3 eggs.

Put all ingredients in top of double boiler. Beat until mixture thickens and remove from fire.

Vanilla Cream Sauce

Two eggs, 1-2 cup sugar, 2 cups milk, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Beat eggs well and beat in sugar. Put all ingredients in top of double boiler and cook, stirring constantly, over hot water until as thick as cream. Remove from fire and beat in vanilla.

Nut and Date Pudding

Three eggs (yolks), 1-3 cup water,

1-3 cups flour, 2 teaspoonfuls baking powder, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1 cup walnut meats, 1 package dates.

Beat yolks of eggs with water till thick and lemon colored. Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder and add to first mixture. Before stirring put the stoned and chopped dates and nuts on flour. Mix thoroughly and bake 15 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve with orange sauce made with the whites of the eggs.

Queen Sauce

Two eggs (yolks), 1 cup powdered sugar, 1 cup whipping cream, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Beat yolks with sugar. Whip cream

MONTREAL, Feb. 16.—Jeremie Belliveau enjoys the distinction of having been the central figure at his own inquest. The jury decided he was alive. Six months ago a body found in the Lachine canal was identified as that of Belliveau who had been missing. A coroner's jury found a verdict of accidental death, and in time Madame Belliveau made plans to remarry. Then, Belliveau made a rearrangement of plans necessary by coming back. The coroner was called upon once more, this time to state what was to be done about the living. Belliveau explained that he had unavoidably detained in jail for six months.

Another Mexican Officer Executed

JUMEX, Mexico, Feb. 16.—Gen. J. J. Mendez, commander of the Jumarz garrison, today reported the execution in Chihuahua City of Major A. M. Garcia, an officer of the Chihuahua City garrison. He was convicted of participation in a plot to assassinate Gov. Enriquez, and Gen. Martinez, commander of the northern military zone. Three other officers were executed a week ago.

General Lockout Affects 150,000 Workers

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Feb. 16. (By the Associated Press).—The general lockout declared yesterday throughout Denmark, affecting nearly all industries and about 150,000 employees, had not up to this forenoon been met by the retaliatory move of a general strike which some organized labor elements threatened. It is already practically impossible to obtain fuel and as one consequence the bread supply is endangered. The trouble arose because of an attempted 20 per cent cut in wages, with longer hours.

Bank of England Cuts Rate of Discount

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(By the Associated Press).—The Bank of England today reduced its rate of discount to 4½ per cent. The reduction of the bank rate was primarily made possible by the recent large reduction in the government's floating debt, and currency circulation, which contributed to the plethora of funds in the money market, permitting the placing of treasury bills at a lower rate and the suspension of the five per cent bond issue. For a long time the bank's minimum rate has been quite out of proportion to the market rates and as the advance in New York exchange removed one of the adverse conditions in the financial situation, assisted by larger investment of American funds here the Bank of England was enabled to give the trading community this relief of a reduction of one-half of 1 per cent in the official minimum. Discount rates have been remarkably weak during the past few days, and only a slight adjustment will be necessary to meet the revised minimum rate.

Compulsory Work For Women

SOFIA, Feb. 16.—Compulsory work for women is to be imposed by the Bulgarian peasant government. The peasant women who do manual labor, say partisans of the law will take pleasure in "seeing those ladies in silk stockings" rustle about a bit. Premier Stamboulsky, justifying the new law in a recent speech, said: "A peasant woman works in the country, ploughing the ground, often doing more than the husband. She spins the wool and weaves the cloth for the family's clothes. What does the town lady do? She walks and chats and does not give birth to children. We must, at least, compel her to labor for the state." The law is to be applied first in the capital, Sofia, then in the smaller cities and eventually in the villages and country, where, however, custom and necessity leave few ill.

Attempt to Dynamite Tram Line Fails

JOHANNESBURG, Union of South Africa, Feb. 16.—Operations are increasing in the Rand district where gold and coal miners have been on strike for several weeks. LECTURED ON

STANDARD TESTS

A. T. Safford, superintendent of the State Normal school yesterday afternoon on the subject, "The Practical Use of Standard Tests." This lecture was given in connection with a series of lectures on the subject of educational tests, the latest publication of which had to do with the subject upon which he spoke.

there were two kinds of standard tests: one the general intelligence test and the other the achievement test. Mr. Safford reviewed the history of mental tests starting with those given to children and also to people of 25 years and over. After the lecture Mr. Safford answered many questions put to him by the teachers and also went over the latest publications of which he spoke.

"I'm Factory Hand by Choice,"
Says Heir to Dodge Millions

HORACE DODGE AT HIS WORK

BY NORRIS QUINN

DETROIT, Feb. 15—Found, the most remarkable multimillionaire in the world!

He's Horace Elgin Dodge, 23-year-old heir to a large interest in the Dodge Brothers' Motor company here.

Dodge is remarkable because he doesn't follow any of the rules movie producers have laid down for young millionaires.

He doesn't stay in bed until noon and get up with a headache.

He doesn't spend the afternoon looking out of the windows of an exclusive club.

Or the evening at the latest musical comedy.

He doesn't "laugh his way through life," as the sub-title writers put it.

Up Every Day at 6

Instead he's up every morning at 6.

And at work at 7.

And spends the day toiling at a machine as a common worker in the motor plant his father founded.

That's not because a stern parent is keeping the young man busy to keep him out of mischief. The older Dodge did recently. His heir's hard work is self-suggested.

After his graduation from military academy and a course in college, Dodge married Miss Virginia Knowlton, Detroit society girl, last June.

As they left for Europe on a honeymoon Dodge announced that on his return he'd start in as a laborer in the Dodge factory to learn the auto business from the bottom up.

Dodge factory to learn the auto business from the bottom up.

Goes Into Factory

When he came back in October he made good on his promise. He's been working ever since.

Every morning Dodge's alarm clock rings at 6. And Dodge responds.

He eats a hasty breakfast at his residence in Grosse Pointe, exclusive Detroit suburb.

He jumps into his touring car and hurries to the automobile plant—hurries because the plant opens at 7 a. m.

He punches a time clock at the employees' entrance of the wood and metal pattern department.

He puts on a workman's rough apron. They wear aprons instead of overalls in his department.

Then he works until the whistle blows for lunch. He lunches in the plant cafeteria.

Puts in Full Days

When the 45-minute lunch period is over, he goes back to his machine and stays there until the whistle blows for quitting time—4:15 p. m.

When Dodge started work officials of the plant put a desk out in the wood and metal pattern department so their apprentice could sit there quietly and watch what was going on.

But Dodge wasn't there to watch. He took a place at one of the machines and insisted on operating it.

"I've always loved machinery," Dodge says. "I can't learn too much about it."

"I'll never sit at an executive desk until I've learned all mechanical operations by actual contact. Thus far they've only let me work on a few machines, because my boss is afraid I might get hurt."

My father could run any machine in this plant as well as any workman. Maybe I've inherited some mechanical ability from him—I hope so."

Will Make Rounds

When Dodge has learned all he can about the wood and metal pattern department, he'll move on to another department. For the present the young millionaire's "boss" is K. C. Babo, head of the pattern department.

Babo occasionally has to "bawl out" the millionaire workman—but only because of the young man's desire to work on machines that are forbidden to him, to do more than his allotted share.

But in point of efficiency and promptness Dodge is the best workman in the department, Babo testifies.

"He's got the right stuff in him—man in the department, Babo says. "The patterns he's turned out are unusually good."

Conscientious, Too

"And he's one of the most conscientious workmen in my department. He won't even lay off when he's ill—he once even disobeyed his doctor's orders to get to work."

Dodge draws paychecks regularly. He says he's going to have the first one framed.

"The hardest job of all is rolling out of bed in the morning," Dodge smiles, "but I manage to do it somehow."

"I've found my life work. I'll take a lifetime to master everything there is to learn about this plant. You know it covers 100 acres of floor space."

"I'm beginning to look on my work as play nowadays and I have lots more fun than I would if I tried to pull through life doing nothing."

A threatening cellar fire which for a time menaced a large block in the business district of the city and during which women were taken from the top floors, occurred last night in the four-story brick building in Gorham street, just opposite the post office. The building is owned by George K. Tonjant, of the firm of tailors in back Central street, and is occupied by a shoe store, a restaurant and about six families. It is believed the property damage will not exceed $5000.

Women Rescued at Fire That Threatened Gorham Street's Business Section—Fire Started Near Boiler—Loss Is Estimated at About $5000

Fire originating in the vicinity of a cellar boiler threatened the business district on Gorham street, near the postoffice last night, and caused so much smoke that several women occupying upper floors of the four-story building at No. 36, had to be taken down ladders to the street by firemen. The department had no difficulty in controlling the flames, although the actual property damage by fire, smoke and water may reach $5000, firemen say.

The flames were discovered by Mrs. Mary Peters, who lives on the second floor of the building, about 7 o'clock. She gave the alarm from one of the windows and Patrolman John H. Clark, who was in the street not far Without organic iron, both food and Vitamines are absolutely useless, as your body cannot change inert, lifeless food into living cells and tissues unless you have plenty of organic iron in your blood. Organic iron takes up excess fat from your lungs. This oxygenated organic iron unites with your digested food as it is absorbed into your blood just as fire unites with coal or wood, and by so doing it creates tremendous power and energy. Without organic iron in your blood your food merely passes thru your body without doing you any good.

SECOND LECTURE ON MUSIC APPRECIATION

The second lecture in a course of music appreciation given under the auspices of the state department of university extension and arranged for by the League of Catholic Women, was held at the Green school last evening, with John A. O'Shea, director of music in the Boston public schools, as the lecturer. O'Shea's theme and he told interesting facts of the grouping of instruments in the Boston and Chicago symphony orchestras concerning their relative values to the harmony and color of the music.

HELD THEIR FIRST ANNUAL DANCE

The employees of the C. V. Hatch Co. thoroughly enjoyed their first annual dance held last night in the Highland club. The party was sort of a Valentine affair with decorations suitable to the occasion. A feature of the evening was the large red heart suspended over the center of the floor, which when released, sent a shower of confetti down upon the fun-makers.

The grand march was led by A. R. Hatch and Miss Ursula Sawyer. Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hatch also took a prominent part in the affair. The officers of the party included Solon S. Mason, general manager, Ursula Sawyer, assistant general manager, Guy Hunt, floor director, John Ward, treasurer, Freda Kenney, chief alt. The matrons were the Misses Bennett, Brice, O'Leary and Mrs. Kenney.

FIREHOUSE WOULD COST $35,000

It is the estimate of Chief Edward E. Saunders of the fire department that a bungalow type firehouse in the Oaklands would cost approximately $35,000 at the present time. The erection of such a house in that section of the city was included in the recommendations of the chief, accepted recently by the fire prevention committee of the chamber of commerce.

ST. COLUMBA'S JUNIOR HOLY NAME

The regular weekly meeting of the St. Columba's Junior Holy Name society was held last evening in the church hall. Final preparations for the white party, which is to be held this evening, were made. The society is planning a fine entertainment as it shown. There will be a piano duet by Miss Mooney and Miss Ryan, a monologue by Mr. John McNabb, and a song by Miss Cecelia Grove will give a dancing exhibition, and the Dion Sisters, who are always

VERY PLEASING SONG RECITAL

A delightful song recital was given in the parish house of St. Paul's church last evening by Albert Edmund Brown, baritone. It was unfortunate indeed that the weather was not more in tune with the concert, for it was of such quality as to deserve an unlimited audience. However, many did attend and this alone is a splendid testimonial to Mr. Brown's ability.

The singer had selected a program that traveled through many moods. He began with the "Honor and Arms" recitative and aria from the oratorio Samson and brought his recital to a close with a spirited rendition of a group of Kipling songs.

Mr. Brown was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Brown, whose colorful interpretation of text and rhythmic requirements greatly enhanced the program.

The program was as follows:

Handel—
"Recitative and Aria from the Oratorio Samson, Honor and Arms"
Schubert—
"Who is Sylvia?"
"Hark! Hark! the Lark"
"Der Wanderer"
"Der Erlenkönig"
Traditional Songs—
German, The Swallow Song
Scottish, Loch Lomond
American, Nobody Knows the Trouble I See
English, On the Banks of Allan Water
Modern Songs—
"Fenelowsed, The Yeoman's Wedding Song"
Ware, Boat Song
Homer, A Banjo Song
Woodward-Pindon
Far Across the Desert Sands (A Lover in Damascus)
Huba—
"Kissling"
Kissling Songs—
"Flock, Route Marchin"
Tours, Mother of Mine
German (Ed.), Rolling Down to Rio
Spanish, On the Road to Madrid

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2. and get the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but it really takes hold of a cough and quickly earns it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made or three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly his home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, breaks the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for broad and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

MOTHER!

Open Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Even a cross, feverish, bilious, or constipated child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." A teaspoonful never fails to cleanse the bowels and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the sour bile and undigested food out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mothers! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup. Adv.

An entirely new kind of soap

For all the regular family wash

Dissolve in boiling water
Pour into tub of lukewarm water
Use enough Rinso to get big, lasting suds

More cleansing power than bar soap

A new kind of soap.

Soap made of pure materials combined in such a way that it has more cleansing power than soap has ever had before.

This new kind of soap gently soaks loose the most ground-in dirt without weakening a single thread.

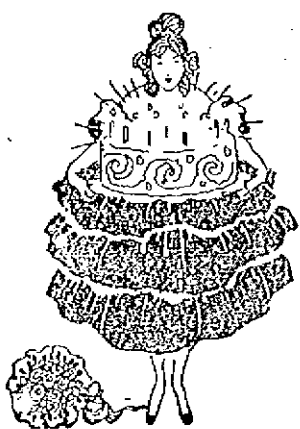

Rinso dissolves completely and almost at once in boiling water. It gives such soapy water, such big lasting suds that soaking does almost all the work instead of a small part of it. Even the worst soiled spots need but a light rubbing with dry Rinso.

Rinso soaks clothes so clean that boiling isn't necessary. But if you like to boil your white cottons see what a difference it makes in your boiler.

If you have a washing machine help it do its best work by using Rinso in it. Rinso takes the place of bar soap at every step of the family wash.

Rinso is made by the largest soap makers in the world. Get Rinso today at grocery and department stores. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

VERY REFRESHING INDEED

It is most refreshing to hear Major MacBrayne denouncing yellow journalism, but if his own Sunday paper had less of that kind of fifth the public would have more confidence in his sincerity. His scurrilous Sunday assaults upon decent newspapers and decent gentlemen connected with them, have never been equalled for vileness in any newspaper in the state.

His recent expressions of loyalty to organized labor must have been of great interest to the local labor unions, particularly to the Lowell Typographical union; but if his own newspaper were only printed by union workmen the labor unions might take more stock in his statement.

THE WAGE QUESTION

The present industrial situation is bad, very bad, and some of the mills have their storehouses pretty well filled up with goods piled up awaiting orders. That is undoubtedly why a reduced rate in wages has been proposed, but a drop of 20 per cent. will leave many of the operatives at a short distance from the bread line.

The cost of living falls very slowly and it would be a crushing blow to the operatives at the present time to suffer a cut of 20 per cent. in wages. It would seem that if wage cuts must come they should not be so radical as that which caused the last strike.

It must be remembered that the operatives these times live in constant uncertainty of work, and if the industry in which they are employed slumps down, they have no other employment and must simply remain idle.

In some other countries the government assumes responsibility for the unemployed and pays them enough weekly to meet their actual needs. Here the unemployed have no insurance and no refuge in case of want but the pauper department. That is a condition that should be taken into account in dealing with the wage question.

Unless the operatives can earn a little more than is needed for their mere support, they will have neither to fall back upon in case of sickness or death, and hard working people should be protected against the possibility that may be brought upon them in such emergencies.

These are matters that should be considered in every readjustment of wages in the mills or elsewhere.

Another feature of the present economic condition that should not pass unnoticed is that highly organized trades are keeping up their wages so that the cuts fall heavily upon the unorganized. There are comparatively slight reductions in the wage scale of several of the mechanical trades. Moreover, many of the reductions in wholesale prices of commodities have not been carried to the consumer through the retailers in the extent that might be expected.

In view of these circumstances an effort should be made to avoid radical wage cuts as far as possible for the reason that they leave the holders without the wherewithal to buy what they want. This business in general is injured. It would be well also to settle all wage and labor troubles by conference or arbitration.

THE MILK QUESTION

The milk question is very important to the people of this and other parts of New England. There is a very heated controversy on between the distributors and the producers. The producers claim they are not getting enough for their product and the distributors say they cannot pay any more, unless they can raise the price up to 12 cents a quart. This statement by the distributors may be true but if it is, there seems to be something wrong in their system inasmuch as with the margin allowed them over what they pay the farmer, they should be able to make a fair profit on their business.

It is true that there is a great deal of unnecessary waste in the process of distribution. Take any large legitimate block in this city and you'll find at least half a dozen milk men making deliveries to the same living side by side. One milk man from Braintree will deliver milk, say at No. 22, a man from Elliptical at No. 21, and one from Tewksbury at No. 20. Even in two-family houses, as in this city, each of the families has a different milk man. If the distributors could find any means of economizing they could deliver milk where two or even one would suffice. They can also do the job of reducing expenses. In some other countries there are co-operatives at central points to which the farmers deliver their milk and the co-operative in turn distributes it over a large territory, but seldom outside its immediate competition.

The people of Massachusetts are interested in having Massachusetts milk rather than milk brought here from New Hampshire, Vermont and even farther north. They can secure this only by seeing that they have at least a fair profit for the milk sold either directly to the consumers or to the distributors. If the farmers are able to carry out their co-operative system, by delivering direct to the consumers, they might be able to do better but this would require a large organization and a big force of men and horses or motor vehicles. We do not want to see the farmer sell of their cattle in the spring and have us dependent upon milk from the north for the future.

GIVE US THE RECALL

The amendment to the city charter now proposed in a bill before the legislature making provision for the recall is one that should be inserted as necessary in a city such as Lowell.

This provision was eliminated when the new charter went before the legislature, on the ground that it was impracticable. It is not impracticable when an emergency arises to justify its application. It is well to have such a provision in our charter in order that our public officials may realize that the citizens can resort to it whenever they find such a course necessary. The recall is of such a nature that it might be in the charter for twenty years and never be used, but it serves its purpose nevertheless in being suspended like the sword of Damocles over the heads of public officials and liable to be used when occasion demands. It is hoped, therefore, that the bill for the recall will be favorably considered by the legislature and that it will be enacted with the amendment fixing the time of opening the primaries so that on both points our charter may be more complete than it is at present.

The bill providing for party designation on the primary ballot is of a very different kind. That would be a radical change from present conditions and it would revert to the old political methods in force before the commission charter was adopted. The chief difficulty at that time arose from political deadlocks. If it were in force at present, there would be deadlocks between the mayor and the council and even the council itself would be divided on political lines, so that politics in a great many instances would have more influence in the selection of officials than would their qualifications for the office to be filled.

We believe that such a change at this time would be highly injurious to the city and to the city's interests, although the present system is far from ideal. Political lines are not desirable in municipal politics, although they are less objectionable than divisions on general religious lines, sometimes brought about through the narrowness of a few individuals who wish to stir up strife for their own selfish ends.

U. S. MARINES IN NICARAGUA

Dispatches from Managua, Nicaragua, reveal interesting information not generally known to American citizens who have to foot the bills. The Nicaraguan congress has just been presented a lengthy petition, asking the government to negotiate with the United States for withdrawal of the American marines stationed at Campo Marte, near Managua.

How many taxpayers know that American marines are spending the winter on duty down in Nicaragua? Are the marines actually needed in Nicaragua today? If no, why does not the government at Washington explain just what they are there for, why they were sent there in the first place, and how long they are to remain there?

Coincidentally with the request of the citizens of Nicaragua that the marines be withdrawn, comes word that the American minister has asked the Nicaraguan government for space adjacent to Campo Marte to erect a casino, dance hall, motion picture theatre and other buildings, with a view to keeping the marines from visiting Managua, a city in which the saloons offer special attractions for the marines.

The United States marines are not popular in Nicaragua. We have no doubt they are there for some important American reason, but a recent dispatch has contained news indicating that Nicaragua was in a state of revolt or in danger of aggression on the part of a foreign foe.

THE UNEMPLOYED

The unemployment situation is becoming so serious that it is likely probable that the city will have to do something in order to provide employment for those now out of work. Possibly the present snow storm might enable the city department to call in hand enough to help a little but this of course will end but a comparatively small number. It would be a most source of benefit to the city as well as to the unemployed if some public work could be started on which the most needy of the unemployed could be given an opportunity to earn a fair week's wage. There is here a problem for the board of public service to discuss and perhaps one on which the city council might properly take some action.

STATE BONUSES

Cash bonuses totaling $151,000 are being paid to war veterans by 13 states. Additional $1,550,000 will be paid under legislation already passed. Sometimes Americans forget that their country is a league of 15 states, some of them individuals as powerful and important as nations like Belgium. Too often the state neglects its duty, leaves the buck to slow moving Uncle Sam. Not so, in some states, with adjusted compensation for veterans.

In many other public problems the states should act without waiting for Washington to take the lead. Farm relief and unemployment are problems calling for action by state governments.

Naturally, chairman Weed of the park board wants to know whether funds will be forthcoming with which to repair the trees damaged by the great ice storm.

SEEN AND HEARD

One employer is so enthusiastic over the future he even proleptically penny slot machines will be working.

Chorus girls in a Paris show wear one feather only. About 10,000 Americans are wintering in Paris.

A Thought For Today

The fear of man brings a snare. By halting in our duty and giving back to him of our fear, our hands grow weaker, our ears grow dull, so that when we look at the way of the righteous, it seems as though it was not for us. - John Wycliffe.

Chicago Criminals

Chicago is the home of about 10,000 professional crooks, reports its crime commission. That means, one crook to each 229 law-abiding citizens. Criminals are decidedly in minority. Pity they can't be segregated, like the old-fashioned system of putting the bad apples in a separate barrel. Criminals are decidedly in minority. Pity they can't be segregated, like the old-fashioned system of putting the bad apples in a separate barrel.

A Word a Day

Today's word is expound. It's pronounced - ex-pound with accent on the last syllable. It means - to explain, to set forth, to state, to present. It comes from "ex-," "out," and "ponere," "to place." "Exponere" means "to expose." It's used like this: "Police are expounding many theories relative to the murder of William Desmond Taylor."

American Farm Products

Exports of leading American farm products last year were greater in volume than in any previous year. They totaled more than $6,000,000,000 compared with $5,500,000,000 in 1920 and $4,900,000,000 in 1919. Yet the money paid for these exports was under $2,000,000,000 in 1921, against more than $3,000,000,000 in 1920 and $1,000,000,000 in 1919. The farmers' export problem is prices, not sales.

Not So Awful

A deaf man was being married and the clergyman asked the usual question: "Do you take this woman for your lawful wife?" "B?" said the deaf man. "Do you take this woman for your lawful wife?" This time a lot louder. "The groom seemed to get angry. 'O, I don't know,' he said. 'She ain't so awful. I've seen worse than her that didn't have as much money.'"

Can't Make Comb-over

Will women do anything fashion deers? Not this time, apparently. Style creators are trying to bring the long skirt back. Are women taking to it? About as much as asbestos board and cork shoes. "Skirts next summer are going to be so short, the happy ones will be able to roll their legs," says a model at a Chicago exhibit of women's wearing apparel. Long skirts can be shortened. Short skirts can't be lengthened.

Walter Understood

A pompous man entered a restaurant and beckoned the waiter. "I want a chop," he said importantly. "Yes," said the waiter. "A chop, chop, chop, chop, chop," said the waiter. "Yes," said the waiter. "See that it is grilled over a quick fire. Tell them to have a piece of garlic placed on it for a few seconds." "Yes," said the waiter. "And - waiter, I don't want any sauce or gravy with it. Just half a grilled tomato." You understand? "Yes," said the waiter. "Rightly," replied the man. "A moment later he reached the speaking tube. 'One minute,' he bawled.

Anecdotes

I never heard a robin boast. The ancient Irish king, who claims his song was modestly when April days begin.

I never heard a violet tell of her bluest mother-in-law. The oldest mother in the world - gave her such modest birth.

I never heard the white-flower-waves proclaim their ancient line. Although the ocean held for sway before the world knew mine.

-BELLAR VICK HICKLEY, in "Contemporary Verse" for February.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The Peabody Shoe Co., I notice, has been advertising its headquarters in the same building, in neat gold letters painted on the company's office windows where the bookkeepers and managers sit daily to attend to the shoe trade and other business matters necessary for the conduct of this growing Lowell business venture. The Peabody signs are very attractive. This company is starting in with confidence that business is bound to be good and that sooner than most people expect.

Among the "regulars" at the history club dinner "about" yesterday was John J. Hyatt, the manufacturer. He was there as usual this week, and interested in Railroad Executive News-letters such about rail matters and government control and other things of that interest to Lowell business men. Mr. Hyatt reports business going along smoothly.

He told the Man About Town that he had not been thinking of putting up a sign on his big building on Middlesex street where he conducts his business, but he is glad to see anyone do it who wants to. He referred to a large shoe concern which has just erected a sign on the Burroughs building. The Watson Shoe Co. sign is a very large one, in black and white, and can be read half a mile away. It occupies a prominent position right in the center of the big block, and attracts attention from people looking about Lowell for anything new.

For more than 25 years patrons of the new Haven have enjoyed nothing but a veteran section foreman the Framingham line, always known as "Sothy." Foreman Smith continued his duties regularly six days a week and sometimes seven, and is in splendid health for a man who is getting well along in years. Each morning for a month or so, he has been traveling his "division" in the vicinity of Carlisle, Acton and Concord Junction, looking out for defective rails. He told the Man About Town recently that "riding the rails" is the best way to discover bad iron. He looks on to the morning train from Lowell and rider, say, to Concord Junction. He notes, as he rides, every wheel scraping, every sudden jounce

NEURITIS, NEURALGIA AND SCIATICA CAUSED BY STARVED NERVES

Undernourishment Produces Inflammation That Causes the Acute Pains That Characterize These Diseases and the Remedy is Food for the Nerves

The pains of neuritis are caused by undernourished nerves. As the nerves get all their nourishment from the blood this means that the blood is lacking in some of the elements that are vital to the health of the nerves. There is no way of getting medicine or nourishment to the nerves except through the blood. Even opiates when injected to deaden or quiet a nerve reach it through the blood stream. When the blood is thin and pale the nerves are starved. When the blood is rich and red the nerves are well nourished. The importance of building up the blood to correct nervous troubles is also shown in actual experience.

"I had neuritis and liver trouble at the same time," says Mrs. Belle C. Melendy, of No. 1 Cedar street, Concord, N. H., "and I found the treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and Pinkettes to be just what my condition required. I suffered for a number of years and nothing seemed to give me permanent relief. The neuritis pain was in my right shoulder blade and at times it seemed as though it would drive me crazy. I had bilious attacks and sick headaches, was constipated and in the morning my tongue would be coated. My appetite was lost, my nerves were unstrung and I was tired and worn out.

"After reading about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I gave them a trial and in a short time I noticed that I was being benefited. The pain in my shoulder blade lessened and finally disappeared. I have not had it since. My color improved and I gained in strength. I took Dr. Williams' Pinkettes for my liver. They are a fine remedy for constipation and by their use I have overcome the bilious attacks. I used them the same time with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and now I can speak a good word for these remedies."

A Case in Hartford

When the nerves are starved because the blood no longer carries to them the nourishment they need, pains and aches develop in various parts of the body. Neuralgia, sciatica or neuritis may result when the nerves are undernourished and these painful conditions will continue until the blood is built up so that it is able to supply to the nerves the elements they need to keep them in health.

Mrs. Morris Kratz, of No. 2 Judson street, Hartford, Conn., suffered from poor circulation, neuritis and indigestion. Her case was so complicated that she had been to a number of doctors, but by building up the blood, poor blood probably had been to blame for all her suffering. She says:

"My arms ached so at night that I could not sleep and at times my limbs every queer little "up and down" motion of the car he rides in. If he sees the car ahead away one way and the car he is riding in slant the other way, he has discovered a "bad rail" connection, or a rail out of alignment that needs prompt repairing. He makes a note of the location of the rail, and his men are soon there to straighten it out, as the section men "put it." Not all of the rail faults are of course, by riding on the cars, but Smith tells me that it is an excellent way to "get most of 'em," and he finds numerous rail defects in this way. Of course, his men go over the rails on their special division regularly, and there are also daily inspectors who ride over the lines morning and night, using electrical-driven devices to ascertain if the lines and roadbeds are in order when they go over the rails. It is a part of the "railroad game" that isn't heralded in the public prints quite so much as the dealings of railroad financiers, government ownership shams and Wall Street jurglers of railway equipment.

Wednesday of this week marked the 24th anniversary of an event, which before the world war, was well remembered by a great many people. It was the blowing up of the battleship Maine in the harbor of Havana. Since the world war, little thought has been given to an event so much as the destruction of the Maine, which at that time was regarded as the immediate cause of the Spanish war. Since that time another Maine has been built, proclaimed the "pride of the navy" and relegated to the scrap heap as obsolete. The period of 24 years is not such a long time to most of us, but it is long enough to see a great fighting machine built, put into service and then condemned.

Patrons of the Lowell Opera House are fond in their praise of the fine musical programs being furnished there by the Opera House orchestra which is under the leadership of Joseph "Fred" Smith. Each week a special program is presented to the large audience which are thronging to witness the productions of the Florida company. Extracts from the latest operas, some from light operas, musical comedies and the latest popular hits are included in the program. Patrons of the theatre look forward to the musical entertainment with the same enthusiasm they display towards the show program.

The Quixote made up of four of the greatest of made shiners on the stage, who have been in the front line at the B. F. Kenth Theatre this week, and with them are Davis & Darnell in a specialty show called "Birds." This is an act of class and beauty, but as the show goes on, it is a specialty act in the way through. Another splendid act is Boris Duncan, a singing comedienne who is attractive in every way, and who puts over the every latest of some number of songs. Yodanis and Lizzie in a light based on newspaper life is another laugh-maker, while the other acts are Ray & Bennett in dancing; Hot & Dynamite in a novel turn, and Harry Deane, comedian.

would be absolutely numb. I had awful pains in my back and hips. When I got up in the morning I could not stand straight. My knees were like ice and I was in torment all of the time. My digestion was affected and I had severe stomach pains after eating. "I had tried about every remedy I had heard of but nothing helped me until I got Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Then the change was wonderful. I do not have any of the pains any more nor any indigestion. I feel better than I have felt in many years. I have recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to many others and some of my friends are taking them now with good results. I can be glad to tell anybody what they have done for me."

Neuritis Follows Influenza

Many people who in the last few years have suffered an attack of influenza have never recovered the full vigor of health that they enjoyed before. Influenza leaves the system debilitated and peculiarly susceptible to diseases that are caused by or depend upon thin blood. To correct these diseases when they appear and to strengthen the system so that it will resist them it is necessary to build up the blood.

"Last January," says Mrs. Ellen McLean, of No. 14 Barnes street, Ashmont, Boston, Mass., "I had an attack of influenza and it left me in a very run-down condition. My strength was gone and I had no appetite. I suffered from neuritis pains in my shoulders which were worse at night and I got very ill. In the morning I would be so weak that I could not lift up my hands to do my hair. I was just able to drag myself around the house. When I was a girl I lived in Prince Edward Island and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were our family remedy. I had used them for anemia and they built me up so I thought I would try them to see if I could get rid of the after-effects of the influenza. BALFOUR PAYS TRIBUTE

Says World Owes Debt of Gratitude to Government of United States

LONDON, Feb. 15.—(By the Associated Press) Arthur J. Balfour, officially welcomed home today from the Washington conference at a luncheon by the government and coalition members of both houses of parliament, declared that "the world owes an unaccountable debt of gratitude to the government of the United States."

Textile Council Hears Major MacBrayne

which he alleged he had made for an emergency. He planned to put the officers in pairs, and have some at the police station for special duty. Only one or two went out. If he hadn't provided the officers he would have been criticized. When he found the Hamilton had closed he put the men back on duty.

He said there had been some offense taken at an advertisement he had inserted in local papers Saturday. He had received a telephone call from the chief of police in Nashua, asking for 20 men for strike duty. He had told the Nashua chief that he could not do so, as he was short of men himself. He had put 20 men on the liquor squad, making the largest liquor squad in the history of Lowell. Therefore, he had called the 25 supernumeraries to the station on Sunday, to find out if they were available for duty in Nashua. He asked for the names of those who wished to go. He took the matter up later with Deputy Downey and Lieutenant Ryan and agreed with them that he had better not send any men. He followed the advice of the officers in this case, as he does in many others, as they are familiar with the affairs of the department. The supernumeraries were sent home, and have not returned to the station since, said the speaker.

He said he had made no mention of riot or machine guns to local reporters. The local papers had copied it from a Boston publication. The Sun had tried to make it appear to his disadvantage, and he repudiated the statement issued. The riot guns mentioned were two which had been bought several years ago by Superintendent of Police Redmond Welch. They were placed under lock and key in the superintendent's office and had been there ever since. There are no machine guns at the station, said Mr. MacBrayne, and if he were to use the riot guns it would be on people exercising yellow journalism.

(In his statement in The Sun yesterday the major said there were no riot guns at the station, but The Sun discovered them in the afternoon and the major admitted the fact in the evening.)

Mr. MacBrayne announced that he was ready to answer questions. He hoped that he had not been misunderstood; the local newspapers are the enemies of labor—always have been, and always will be, he said.

Mr. Regan said that the matter had not been taken up in defense of the newspapers. The meeting was to have been secret as usual, until it was learned that Mr. MacBrayne had asked for an audience. It was then decided to make it public.

Not satisfied that the major had met the issue, Organizer Regan said he came to Lowell on Saturday to see the Hamilton mill officials. If he visited there Saturday morning shortly after 8:30. The Courier-Citizen on Friday morning said that the superintendent was mobilizing his men, while, as a matter of fact, there was supposed to be no knowledge of a strike outside. He wanted to know how the chief knew there was to be a strike. The police were notified to be ready. He wished information regarding the reporter's interview with Mr. MacBrayne relative to a strike. He was familiar with the strikes of the past, from 1883 to the present day, and said that in none of the strikes had the police been called out. The same was largely true in other mill cities. He wanted to know why it had been done in Lowell. He believed that no man present was actually an enemy of the superintendent; they all knew the chief must protect life and property. He, personally, did not care who was chief of police; he contended there should not have been mobilization of the police for strike duty when they had no knowledge of a strike. He had been in many of the biggest strikes in the country, and thought that Lowell was the most peace-abiding city of all.

Not only organized labor, but the public at large wants to know why such preparations were made. Mr. Milliken did not know there was to be a strike and had had a chance to avoid it. He and the agent had each offered settlements, but no agreement could be reached. He wanted to know why he had told MacBrayne there was to be a strike. If the time has come for the erection of barbed wire fences around the mills and the mobilization of police against trouble he wanted to know it. Yellow journalism was not the business of the police before, and doesn't fear them. The United Textile Workers' organization has never destroyed property; thousands are now out in Massachusetts and Connecticut and there has been no trouble. It was not through the council that stories had appeared in the papers.

The Mayor's Reply
To this Major MacBrayne said that he had already explained about the supernumeraries. "Mobilization" was not his term for the measures taken.

Asked about the statements in the papers about sending officers to Nashua, he replied that there had been quite a lot in the papers intimating that there would be a strike. A Mr. Benoit of the Bay State corporation had called him by telephone on Wednesday or Thursday of last week and requested six officers for the protection of the plant, and that he had sent three, informing Mr. Benoit that the corporation must pay for their services. In case of trouble on the outside, the city would have to pay the officers.

Questioned by a Courier-Citizen reporter regarding the article in that paper on Feb. 10, the acting superintendent said that he had told the Courier-Citizen people in the afternoon that everything they had said was correct. He said that he had given the reporter statements early in the week, just what day he could not recall, relative to his preparations. At that time he had stated that he expected no trouble from the operators.

President Hanley asked if the superintendent received his first information from Mr. Benoit, and was answered in the affirmative. In regard to mobilizing the police department, he did that every day.

Asked if there would have been any mobilization if he had not received the telephone message from Mr. Benoit, he replied in the negative, saying that there was no mobilization, anyway; he would have detailed several officers. Mr. Benoit had asked for six and was given three.

Mr. Regan's Rejoinder
Mr. Regan said that the stories in circulation have led the citizens to believe that manufacturers were running the police department or that there was some leak in the union. Mr. MacBrayne said the mobilization of supernumeraries was for the purpose of seeing how many would be available for duty in the Nashua strike.

President Hanley said the boomers were the only organized body in the Bay State corporation. They voted to strike last Thursday night, and were not supposed to announce their decision until Friday night, at least. Still, Major MacBrayne had been notified hours before the vote was taken. Editor Edward J. Gallagher of The Sun asked the acting superintendent if he had not told the reporters on Saturday that he had decided not to send men to Nashua. Mr. MacBrayne admitted that he had, but that he had not definitely decided. President Hanley asked if that meant that he was holding the men in readiness for the Nashua trouble. The major replied that he had received about 15 calls from Nashua, and when the men assembled Sunday afternoon he had the deputy give them instructions for strike duty, especially out of town. They were told to conduct themselves properly to reflect credit on Lowell. He did not notify the Nashua chief that he would not send men until Sunday night. He assured those present of his high regard for the operatives of Lowell.

The Sun editor questioned Mr. MacBrayne relative to the accuracy of an item in Saturday's Sun stating that he would see the mill agents relative to sending out Jackson street and if he did not misrepresent Lowell operatives in making such a proposition. In reply, the acting superintendent admitted that he had given out the item. Then he said Mr. Benoit asked him if he thought it advisable to rope off the property, and he replied that he did not think he could do so, legally, but would take the step in an emergency. He then assailed The Sun as being unfair to labor.

Mr. Gallagher also asked Mr. MacBrayne if the mobilization on Sunday afternoon was not for inspection of arms and equipment. The major replied that in a measure it was, but with a view to service in Nashua. He found some of them without equipment. Mr. Gallagher stated that he had been connected with The Sun for over thirty years and he knew that it had always stood by the mill workers in all their strikes and struggles; and when Major MacBrayne says anything to the contrary, he states what is false. The rule laid down by the chairman prevented a general reply to Mr. MacBrayne's charges.

The Verdict
Mr. Regan then delivered his verdict, to the effect that he believed that the superintendent of police should have waited, and should not have given information to the press before he knew that a strike was to take place. He acted very hastily in the matter. He, the speaker, as a representative of the United Textile workers, and all the other members, wanted to know why the superintendent of police had made them look so small. He questioned Mr. MacBrayne's judgment. He believed he could mobilize the force in half an hour. However, he had mobilized it before an authoritative word had been spoken relative to a strike.

President Hanley told Major Mac-

Brayne that he might explain further. If he wished, if he would refrain from knocking other papers. If he wanted to make closing remarks he was entitled to the privilege. In justice to the acting superintendent and the public, a hearing had been given with reporters present, that everything might be cleared up. There is no trouble so far as the strikers are concerned.

Mr. Regan said, in regard to an objection previously made by the acting superintendent to The Sun editor's speaking for the working men, that no with an expression of thanks and appreciation was brought there by preclusion.

MEETS IN PEACE PALACE

Inaugural Session of Permanent Court of International Justice

THE HAGUE, Feb. 15.—The peace palace, which cynics during the war labelled "Closed, owing to bankruptcy," was the scene today of the inaugural session of the permanent court of international justice, the cornerstone of the League of Nations.

The event was hailed by adherents of pacifist ideals as a new milestone in the evolutionary progress of the world toward peace—or, in the words of Lord Curzon, "the beginning of a new era of peace and concord among nations."

At the opening session the judges were to take the oath to fulfill their offices "honorably, faithfully, impartially and conscientiously." In their future sittings they are expected not only to clear up such doubtful points of international law as may come before them but also to create laws whenever their need is apparent, like the praetors of ancient Rome.

The first meeting was held in the great hall of justice, a chapel-like chamber, the carved open walls of which have not yet assumed the darker tints of age, but the appointments of which combine to give the appropriate atmosphere of judicial solemnity.

Members of the court represent 12 nationalities and both eastern and western worlds. The judges, in accordance with the law creating the court, possess "the qualifications required in their respective countries for appointment to the highest judicial offices" or are "judicialists of recognized competence in international law."

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 15.—Alexander Howat, deposed Kansas miners' leader, won the preliminary skirmish of his fight at the special convention of the United Mine Workers of America here today against the action of the union administration officers expelling Howat and creating a provisional district government for the union in Kansas.

By a rising vote of 377 to 364, the delegates decided to consider Howat's appeal to override the administration officers' order and immediately a roll call was ordered, probably delaying a final decision until tomorrow.

President Lewis in an address replying to Howat, declared 125 men from Kansas were attending the convention as an "organized movement" to create disturbances in the convention.

But Would Run for U. S. Senate if Called Upon by People of Florida

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 15.—William Jennings Bryan, responding to many inquiries as to whether he would be a candidate for the democratic nomination for United States senator from Florida, today issued a statement, in which he said:

"I have been actively engaged in politics for more than 20 years. With the exception of less than seven years, my work has been done as a private citizen and I prefer to continue to serve the public without the cares of office. If the democrats of Florida felt that as a senator I could render a service to the state and to the party in the nation sufficient to justify them in calling upon me to represent them in Washington, I would consider the matter from the standpoint of duty and in connection with other claims upon me, but I have no thought of entering into a contest for the office."

ACID STOMACH

In five minutes "Pape's Diapepsin" ends

Indigestion Gases Heartburn
Sourness Flatulence Palpitation

"Pape's Diapepsin" really does put bad stomachs in order—really does overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that's just what makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world.

If what you eat ferments into such-born lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; head in dizziness and agony, remember the moment "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing almost instantaneous and the joy to the hardworking. A large quantity of Pape's Diapepsin is worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the most efficient natural and stomach regulator in the world.

DEATH TOLL IN BELFAST 34

Disorders Continue—Ulster Hall Seized for Use of Troops, Now in City

Collins Back in Dublin—Satisfied With Results of London Conference

British Evacuation of Southern Ireland to be Resumed Forthwith

BELFAST, Feb. 16 (By the Associated Press).—The authorities today commandeered Ulster hall, the commodious structure on Bedford street, ordinarily used for concerts and assemblies, for the use of the troops now engaged in combating the disorders here. Up to 10 o'clock this morning casualties had reached a total of 124, with the deaths numbering 34. Two more deaths from violence occurred here this morning, including a 6-year-old child, who was struck by a bullet while playing in the street yesterday.

A workman proceeding along Seaford street, in the Ballymacarrat area, was shot dead.

Yesterday, gunmen held out workers in the lower market district and wounded one of them.

An attempt was made this forenoon to burn the disused workhouse at Strabane, North Tyrone, which the military had signified their intention of occupying. A police patrol noticed flames proceeding from the structure and the extra force was mobilized and checked the fire. Examination showed that petrol had been thrown over the stairs and bedding. The district hospital adjoins the workhouse.

The fire alarm net is now in force in Northern Ireland and the authorities announce that it will be strictly adhered to. The possession or sale of firearms without police certificates is punishable by two years' hard labor. The period of grace for the surrender of arms expires Saturday in Belfast, and February 23 elsewhere.

LONDON, Feb. 16 (By the Associated Press).—Michael Collins' return to Dublin after only 13 hours in London and his admission that he was not dissatisfied with the results of his conference with government officials here, are taken to mean that the British evacuation of Southern Ireland will be resumed forthwith, and continue uninterrupted.

This will relieve the situation of one of its most serious features. No official explanation of the assurances given Mr. Collins, however, has yet been made.

No troops have been moved from the south since Monday except the 400 cavalrymen who sailed at Dublin for Liverpool last night. The other troops which arrived in Dublin on Monday are still there.

Notwithstanding the declarations that several kidnapped unionists were released yesterday, only three have reached their homes, according to the latest despatches from Belfast, where there is no relief in the tension pending the arrival of the others.

The house of commons was again to take up today the bill establishing the Irish Free State, Mr. Churchill moving the second reading. The debate is expected to occupy at least two days. First informed opinion at the moment is that opponents will not prove numerous enough to prevent passage of the bill.

The strife in Belfast, which yesterday went from bad to worse, is causing the greatest concern to the local authorities, whose efforts to stop the disorders have failed.

TEXTILE COUNCIL HEARS MAJOR MacBRAYNE'S STATEMENT ON STRIKE PREPARATIONS

Asked Why He Mobilized Police Before Any Strike Was Declared—Admitted as Military Man His Course Might Have Been Hasty—Criticized Newspapers, Particularly The Sun—Mr. Regan Criticized His Course—Some Questions Asked by Newspapermen—The Verdict Pronounced by Mr. Regan

After listening to Major MacBrayne's explanation of his police mobilization in preparation for a strike, and his attitude toward certain newspapers at an open meeting of the Lowell Textile Council last evening, National Organizer Thomas J. Regan, of the United Textile Workers of America, expressed the opinion that the present chief of police had acted too hastily; that he should have waited at least until the strike occurred before coming out in the press with stories of police mobilization even before any strike was declared and when not even Agent Milliken, of the Hamilton Manufacturing Co. knew for a certainty that there would be a strike.

Mr. Regan said that Mr. MacBrayne had admitted that he had prepared for a strike before it came on. He considered this and other features of the present police action on the textile workers of Lowell.

The meeting was called in compliance with a request received by telephone by President John Hanley, yesterday, coming from Major MacBrayne, to the effect that the acting superintendent be given an opportunity to be present and explain sundry alleged misunderstandings created by press reports. As the workers really wanted to have the story at first hand, the room was filled.

Tex Rickard, Fight Promoter, Indicted For Criminal Assault on Two Girls

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—George J. (Tex) Rickard, fight promoter, today was indicted by the supreme court grand jury for criminal assault on two minor girls.

Two indictments were made against Rickard, one charging him with abduction and criminal assault upon Alice Buck and the other alleging similar misconduct with Sarah Schenckfeld. Both girls are 14 years old.

Max D. Steiner, the promoter's lawyer, when notified of the grand jury's action, said he would surrender Rickard and be prepared to furnish bail. Rickard already was under $10,000 bail fixed by Magistrate Simpson when the complaint preferred against him by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children was turned over to the grand jury.

SAYS COUP WOULD RUIN IRELAND WILL PEDDLE THEIR OWN MILK

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(By the Associated Press).—Prediction that a coup d'etat in Ireland resulting in the setting up of a soviet republic would ruin Ireland's cattle for a century, was made by Winston Churchill, secretary for the colonies, in moving in the house of commons today the second reading of the Irish Free State bill. Such an occurrence was not at all likely, however, in the opinion of the British government he said.

LOWELL HEARING IN BOSTON TODAY

The hearings set for 10:30 o'clock today before the legislative committee on cities on the bill of Representative Charles A. Stowey that the recall be instituted in the Lowell charter and on the bill of Representative Adair Board that party designation appear on election ballots were put over until 2:30 p. m.

Patrick J. Reynolds, attorney and registrar of civil service labor for Lowell, appears as the representative of the municipal employees' union in favor of the insertion of the recall clause.

WELCH DID NOT BUY RIOT GUNS

Redmond Welch, deposed head of the police department at the present time, today issued an emphatic denial of the statement made by Major Winfred C. MacBrayne, his temporary successor, to the effect that he, Welch, had bought the two riot guns now in the superintendent's office at police headquarters.

According to Mr. Welch the guns were purchased by former-Superintendent Moffatt about fifteen years ago, when the police officers were shot in Methuen. The murderers, two in number, Mr. Welch remembers, were never captured.

The riot guns have been in the station since that time, but a reporter who saw them yesterday could not help but feel that they had recently undergone a process of oiling and overhauling, no excellent and business-like in their appearance.

5000 Soldiers at Fort Bliss Mobilized Following Rumors of "Revolt"

Report 3000 Men Assembled in Hills South of Juarez

EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 16.—Five thousand troops at Fort Bliss were being held today ready for any emergency which might arise along the border. They were mobilized last night when rumors were scattered in Juarez and El Paso that 3000 men were assembling in the hills south of Juarez and that the Juarez garrison was expected to "revolt."

Juarez military and civilian officials strongly denied each report, but admitted they are aware that revolutionists are trying to recruit men in Chihuahua.

ARREST IRISH ARMY OFFICERS

Sensation Caused at Newry by Action of Ulster Special Constables

BELFAST, Feb. 16 (By the Associated Press).—A sensation has been caused at Newry by the arrest by Ulster special constables of Seamus Monaghan, local commandant of the Irish republican army, and two other republican officers, Patrick and Michael Murray.

The officers were proceeding from Killeek, County Down, in the direction of Killeen, when captured. They were taken to Lisnacroghy, where they were searched, and afterwards were conveyed to the Newry military barracks under heavy escort.

The Murphys are brothers of P. Murray, chairman of the Killeek board of guardians.

It is stated that an automatic pistol was found in the possession of Monaghan and seditious literature in the pockets of the two others.

Subsequently John McDowell and Richard Doran were arrested by other special constables near the Silent Valley reservoir, the source of Belfast's water supply.

Five young men, arrested at Hilltown, South Down, on Friday, after the funeral of a Sinn Fein commandant, will be tried at the regional court, one of them charged with carrying a rifle and the others with unlawful assembly.

Although no charges were preferred against Seamus Monaghan and Patrick and Michael Murray, the Irish republican officers who were arrested at Newry by Ulster special constables, one of the Murray brothers, it was alleged by their friends here today, was brutally assaulted and is now under a doctor's care.

Friends who saw him at the Newry barracks yesterday declared his nose and face bore evidence of severe injuries.

The residence of Commandant Monaghan's father, at Hilltown, was twice raided by armed soldiers on Tuesday and again at midnight last night, according to information received in Dublin today. Considerable tension prevails in the Newry district.

HEARING IS POSTPONED

Hearing on Petitions for Writs of Mandamus Will Be Held Next Week

The hearing which was to have been held today before the supreme judicial court on questions of law on the petitions for writs of mandamus by Mayor George H. Brown and Maj. W. C. MacBrayne and was postponed until tomorrow because of the illness of Justice J. J. Connelley, will not be held until some day next week.

When it became necessary to postpone the hearing from today the case naturally moved into the list for tomorrow, but instead of attempting to obtain sufficient time for the arguments with the several other cases also set for hearing on that day, Attorney John M. O'Donoghue and J. J. Kerwin deemed it advisable to request the clerk of the court to obtain a definite assignment from the justice at some convenient time next week.

The agreed statement of facts in the case to be filed with the court has not yet been completed, but will be before the end of the present week.

NO CHANGE HERE IN MILL STRIKE SITUATION

Conditions at the Bay State Corp. are about the same as they were yesterday. The mill is running, there is no disturbance of any kind reported, and with the exception of the loom-flickers and some of the weavers and roller tenders, who are out on strike as a protest against a 15 and 20 per cent reduction in wages, all the employees are at work. Agent Billington stated to The Sun this noon that no new names have been added to the list of strikers and no strikers have returned.

The employees of the mill who are out on strike were paid off at the office of the company in Marginal Street this morning.

Pres. Harding Tells Congress General Sales Tax Only Feasible Method to Raise Funds For Bonus

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—President Harding informed congress today he considered a general sales tax the only feasible method of raising funds for a soldier bonus.

The executive in a letter addressed to Chairman Forney of the house ways and means committee suggested that unless congress saw fit to enact a sales tax, passage of bonus legislation should be temporarily postponed.

"I believe," the president wrote, "the American people will accept the levy of a general sales tax to meet the proposed bonus payments, and we should contribute thereby no added difficulties to the problems of readjustment. If congress will not adopt such a plan it would be wise to let the legislation go over until there is a situation which will justify the large outlay."

Declaring that the government had under consideration the disposition of surplus war properties and other transactions which should bring "great relief" to the treasury, the president said it would be wise to let the legislation go over if congress did not deem it advisable to adopt the sales tax.

Situation More Complicated

The president's letter was regarded generally at the capital as leaving the bonus situation even more complicated than before. Senate and house sub-committees were to meet late in the day to receive and consider the White House communication.

When the sales tax was discussed in the sub-committees last week, it was understood that senators were in favor of that less than 15 republican votes in the house could be mustered for a sales tax as a method of financing the adjusted compensation. Such a tax had been considered by house leaders as a possibility but virtually had been discarded.

Text of Harding's Letter

The text of the president's letter, which was addressed to Chairman Forney, of the house ways and means committee, follows:

"In accordance with the promise made to yourself and your associates on the senate and house committees, charged with the responsibility of formulating proposed bonus legislation, I have carefully looked into the progress of taxation which has been suggested.

"In addition thereto I have made inquiry into the feasibility of levying either short time treasury notes or long time bonds to meet the financial obligations which the proposed legislation will impose. It is not possible to commend to you either of the plans suggested.

"It continues to be my best judgment that any compensation legislation enacted at this time ought to carry with it the provisions for raising the needed revenues, and I find it impossible to suggest any commendable plan other than that of a general sales tax. Such a tax will distribute the cost of readjustment, the expense men in such a manner that it will be borne by all the people whom they served, and does not commit the government to class imposition of tax as or the resumption of the burdens recently repealed, the maintenance of which can be justified only by a great war emergency.

"It is fully realized how great is the difficulty which confronts the congress in solving this difficult problem. I am aware of the strong sentiment in congress in favor of this adjusted compensation. I have spoken approvingly myself, always with the reservation that the bestowal shall be made when it may be done without such injury to the country as will nullify the benefits to the ex-service men themselves which this expression of gratitude is designed to bestow.

"It is not an agreeable thing to suggest that action be postponed again, but, frankly, I do not find myself favorably to the piece-meal payment plan, which is manifestly designed to avoid embarrassment to the treasury. The long drawn out payments will not afford an effective helplessness to the service men.

"We have no serious problem in beginning the allotments of public lands and the immediate issue of paid up insurance. The real difficulty lies in the payment of the cash bonus. Rather than provide that the maximum cash payments shall extend over a period of two and one-half years it would be a vastly better bestowal if we could await the day when we may safely undertake to pay at once in full so that the award may be turned to real advantage.

"Inasmuch as the treasury is to be called upon to meet more than $6,000,000,000 of maturing obligations in the 16 months' immediately before us, it is not possible to recommend the issue of several hundred millions of additional short time notes. Further excessive borrowings would likely undo all that has been accomplished in readjusting interest rates and stabilizing the financial world, both vitally essential to the resumption of industrial and commercial activities.

"(Granting, then, it is not fair to propose any proposed plan without offering a substitute, let me report that I believe the American people will accept the levy of a general sales tax to meet the proposed bonus payments and we should contribute thereby no added difficulties to the problems of readjustment. If congress will not adopt such a plan, it would be wise to let the legislation go over until there is a situation which will justify the large outlay. We are striving for large economies, we are pushing the disposition of surplus war property, and have other transactions under consideration which might to prove a great relief to the federal treasury. It is not consistent to enact legislation in anticipation of these things, and it would be a prudent plan to let the developments and I can see in such a postponement no lack of regard for the service men in whom all the American people are so genuinely interested.

"I take it that the ex-service men themselves are no less concerned than others about the restoration of business and the return to abundant employment. Those of their wounded or sick comrades, who were injured by their war service are being cared for with the most liberal generosity the nation can bestow.

"There are here and there exceptional cases of neglect, and attending committee but we are seeking them out and correcting with all possible speed. It has not been possible to meet all the demands for special hospitalization, but we are building to that end, without counting the cost. We are expending four hundred million dollars a year in compensation, hospitalization and readjustment. These things are redemptive to assure you that such delays as will enable congress to act in prudence for the common good, will have no suggestion of unkindness or ingratitude."

POSTHUMOUS WAR HEROES

Medals Received Here for Hero Killed in Action in France

Priv. Morin Commended for Distinguished Service and Gallant Action Under Fire

Armed with two 1911 and 1916 city directories, a couple of receipted poll tax bills of the village of 1912 and a faded diary, year craved from the front cover, but containing the name of "A. Morin," and the address "Lowell blanchery, U.S.A." a Sun reporter after three hours' search this afternoon, discovered the former home and relatives of Private Alfred Morin, who was killed in action in France a year after he enlisted in the English regiment, deserting a berth on an American cattle boat to accept a dare of English comrades of the line.

This afternoon, Postmaster John F. Meahan is to send to the Morin home at No. 11 Carlton street, just below the Middlesex street station, two British war medals of silver and gold, with brilliant ribbons and a personal letter addressed to relatives of the Lowell boy, commending his distinguished service and gallant action under fire while bravely going over the top in Flanders in one of the first attempts to stem the oncoming German line.

For several days the postal authorities have been trying to locate Morin's relatives with the help of The Sun, but clues appeared to be missing. The medals were improperly addressed and the first name listed simply as "A." Attempts made to locate a Morin family on Middlesex place were successful enough, but the Morins there had no relatives in the British army in France.

Today, when the postal officials were about to return the medals to British headquarters in London, The Sun secured an interesting tip from down Middlesex street way. A visit was made to several side streets below the railroad, until finally, after a search through two old directories and calling upon two or three red-eyed daughter, who was Morin's wife, and her two fine children who were left fatherless by Morin when he died in France, will be mighty happy when they return home tonight and hear your story. They have been expecting news of you for a long time. My daughter now has a picture of you, but the money, you know, doesn't go very far. We have been very anxious to get the medals and preserve them. My son-in-law was certainly entitled to them, and I thank The Sun for letting me know that they have arrived. I shall go down to get them and get them from Mr. Meahan, who is a good friend of mine, by the way."

Private Morin was about 27 years old—possibly a little older. He lived in Belvidere with his family, until work became slack and he decided to try the cattle boats. He had formerly worked for years in the old blanchery. He married Miss Blanche Berard, daughter of Henry Berard, of 11 Carlton street, whose widow and children were in number, a son and a girl, aged 6 and 7 years respectively, now reside, Mrs. Morin, the war hero's widow, is now employed in Boston. He is also survived by two brothers, James and Bernard, well known employees of the street railway company, and two sisters, Mollie and Rose, the former being married.

Morin, according to the British government medal letter and official report accompanying the medals, is entitled to posthumous honors for bravery in action and special distinguished service under heavy fire, while a member of the famous Worcestershire regiment. The medal award is No. 21,392 on the British books. The letter was forwarded to Mrs. Morin by the Infantry Record office, Warley, England. There is a bronze warwie medal with ribbons, and a crown necked, one rarely seen in Lowell. Both medals are stamped "1914-1915 British War Victory Medal."

Morin, according to his relatives here, joined the British army on a date. He was returning from his second trip on the American boat, when someone shouted on the wharf:

"White feather—Yankee white feather!"

Morin, he finally said today, jumped 10 feet across the water to reach the wharf, and two hours later was with the famous Worcestershire regiment and nine days later embarking for France and glorious death in the ranks for freedom exactly 32 days after he swore to uphold the colors of England and America and all the allies.

TAYLOR STOCK AND MONEY GONE

Investigator Reports Oil Stock and Money Missing From Slain Man's Home

District Attorney Plans to Question Witnesses at Their Homes

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 16.—Oil stock and money, believed to have constituted part of the estate of William Desmond Taylor, murdered film director, are missing, according to Charles A. Jones, investigator for the district attorney.

Jones made this statement after checking up Taylor's papers and belongings, and then conferring with Mrs. R. M. Berger, an income tax expert, with whom Taylor is said to have discussed his 1921 income tax report a short time before he was killed.

From this it was learned, according to Jones, that Taylor was prepared to pay a tax on securities and money which have not been located.

Further investigation into the murder was planned for today. District Attorney Woolwine stated witnesses would be questioned at their homes by his agents. It was believed the public attending their visits to his office frightened persons into keeping to themselves what might prove valuable clues.

FOUR POWER TREATY

Pacific Pact Again Assumes Prominent Place in Senate Affairs

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The four power Pacific treaty which was negotiated at the Washington Conference again assumed today a prominent place in senate affairs both on the senate floor and before the foreign relations committee.

Pending before the senate was the resolution of Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, ranking democrat on the committee, to ask President Harding to transmit to the senate additional information and documents relating to the treaty's negotiation. Before the senate convened today, the foreign relations committee was called to resume consideration of the treaty, which began last Saturday.

The return from Massachusetts today of Senator Lodge, committee chairman and one of the American delegates to the arms conference, was expected to result in definite action on the Hitchcock resolution. The republican leaders also were planning to press committee action on the four power and other conference treaties.

On the Hitchcock resolution, which was expected to have the support of republicans reluctant to accept the four power treaty, administration leaders said that little, if any, documents or other information was in the hands of the president or the state department which has not already been transmitted formally to the senate.

Mr. Hitchcock, however, has declared that the American delegates' report contained virtually nothing on the negotiation of this treaty. This was said by administration leaders to be because practically all of the negotiations were oral and few minutes or notes were kept of the conversations.

The British government plans to place a school within reach of every child in Palestine.

SOME PUDDING SAUCES

Sister Mary Tells How to Make Several New Ones—They're Quite Delicious

Perhaps you are tired of whipped cream and hard sauces as company puddings.

This orange sauce is delicious over a baked or steamed fruit pudding. The pudding will serve eight copiously or 10 comfortably. The pudding uses the yolks and the sauce the whites of the eggs, but the sauce might be used with an eggless steamed pudding and the yolks used for salad dressing.

Orange Sauce
Three eggs (whites), 11-4 cups powdered sugar, 1 lemon (juice), 2 oranges.

Beat whites of eggs with a whisk (til stiff and dry). Sift sugar slowly into whites, beating constantly. Add the grated rind of both the oranges. Slowly beat in the strained juice of the lemon and orange. Beat well and serve soon after making. If the sauce must stand any length of time beat well before serving as the fruit juice separates slightly.

Mock Whipped Cream
Two eggs (whites), 1 cup powdered sugar, 1 large apple.

Grate apple into bowl, add sugar

Put all ingredients in top of double boiler. Beat until mixture thickens and remove from fire.

Vanilla Cream Sauce

Beat eggs well and beat in sugar, put all ingredients in top of double boiler and cook, stirring constantly, over hot water until as thick as cream. Remove from fire and beat in vanilla.

Hot and Date Pudding

1-3 cups flour, 2 teaspoonfuls baking powder, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1 cup walnut meats, 1 package dates.

Mix thoroughly and bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve with orange sauce made with the whites of the eggs.

MONTREAL, Feb. 16.—Jeremie Belliveau enjoys the distinction of having been the central figure at his own inquest. The jury decided he was alive. Six months ago a body found in the Lachine canal was identified as that of Belliveau who had been missing. A coroner's jury found a verdict of accidental death, and in time Madame Belliveau made plans to remarry. Then, Belliveau made a rearrangement of plans necessary by coming back. The coroner was called upon once more, this time to state what was to be done about the living. Belliveau explained that he had unavoidably detained in jail for six months.

Another Mexican Officer Executed

JUKEZ, Mexico, Feb. 16.—Gen. J. J. Mendez, commander of the Jirarez garrison, today reported the execution in Chihuahua City of Major A. M. Garcia, an officer of the Chihuahua City garrison. He was convicted of participation in a plot to assassinate Gov. Enriquez, and Gen. Martinez, commander of the northern military zone. Three other officers were executed a week ago.

General Lockout Affects 150,000 Workers

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Feb. 16. (By the Associated Press).—The general lockout declared yesterday throughout Denmark, affecting nearly all industries and about 150,000 employees, had not up to this forenoon been met by the retaliatory move of a general strike which some organized labor elements threatened. It is already practically impossible to obtain fuel and as one consequence the bread supply is endangered. The trouble arose because of an attempted 20 per cent out in wages, with longer hours.

Bank of England Cuts Rate of Discount

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(By the Associated Press).—The Bank of England today reduced its rate of discount to 4½ per cent. The reduction of the bank rate was primarily made possible by the recent large reduction in the government's floating debt, and currency circulation, which contributed to the plethora of funds in the money market, permitting the placing of treasury bills at a lower rate and the suspension of the five per cent bond issue. For a long time the bank's minimum rate has been quite out of proportion to the market rates and as the advance in New York exchange removed one of the adverse conditions in the financial situation, assisted by larger investment of American funds here the Bank of England was enabled to give the trading community this relief of a reduction of one-half of 1 per cent in the official minimum. Discount rates have been remarkably weak during the past few days, and only a slight adjustment will be necessary to meet the revised minimum rate.

Compulsory Work For Women

SOFIA, Feb. 16.—Compulsory work for women is to be imposed by the Bulgarian peasant government. The peasant women who do manual labor, say partisans of the law will take pleasure in "seeing those ladies in silk stockings" rustle about a bit. Premier Stamboulsky, justifying the new law in a recent speech, said: "A peasant woman works in the country, ploughing the ground, often doing more than the husband. She spins the wool and weaves the cloth for the family's clothes. What does the town lady do? She walks and chats and does not give birth to children. We must, at least, compel her to labor for the state." The law is to be applied first in the capital, Sofia, then in the smaller cities and eventually in the villages and country, where, however, custom and necessity leave few idle.

Attempt to Dynamite Tram Line Fails

JOHANNESBURG, Union of South Africa, Feb. 16.—Operations are increasing in the Rand district where gold and coal miners have been on strike for several weeks. Two mines now have full complements of white workers. An attempt to dynamite a tram line in one mine, failed, the car passing over the explosives unharmed.

LECTURED ON STANDARD TESTS

A. L. Safford, superintendent of the schools of Lowell, spoke at the State Normal school yesterday afternoon on the subject, "The Practical Use of Standard Tests." This lecture was one of a series being given in connection with educational subjects. In his talk the speaker declared that there were two kinds of standard tests: one the general intelligence test and the other the achievement test. Mr. Safford reviewed the history of mental tests starting with those given to children and also to people of 25 years and over. After the lecture Mr. Safford answered many questions put to him by the teachers and also went over the latest publications that had to do with the subject upon which he spoke.

"I'm Factory Hand by Choice,"
Says Heir to Dodge Millions

HORACE DODGE AT HIS WORK

BY NORRIS QUINN

DETROIT, Feb. 16.—Found, the most remarkable multimillionaire in the world!

He's Horace Elgin Dodge, 23-year-old heir to a large interest in the Dodge Brothers' Motor company here. Dodge is remarkable because he doesn't follow any of the rules movie producers have laid down for young millionaires.

He doesn't stay in bed until noon and get up with a headache. He doesn't spend the afternoon looking out of the windows of an exclusive club.

Or the evening at the latest musical comedy.

He doesn't "laugh his way through life," as the sub-title writers put it.

Up Every Day at 6

Instead he's up every morning at 5 and at work at 7.

And spends the day toiling at a machine as a common worker in the motor plant his father founded!

That's not because a stern parent is keeping the young man busy to keep him out of mischief. The elder Dodge died recently. His heir's hard work is self-imposed.

After his graduation from military academy and a course in college, Dodge married Miss Virginia Knowlton, Detroit society girl, last June.

As they left for Europe on a honeymoon Dodge announced that on his return he'd start in as a laborer in the

Dodge factory to learn the auto business from the bottom up.

Goes Into Factory

When he came back in October he made good on his promise. He's been working ever since.

Every morning Dodge's alarm clock rings at 5. And Dodge responds.

He eats a hasty breakfast at his residence in Grosse Pointe, exclusive Detroit suburb.

He jumps into his touring car and hurries to the automobile plant—hurries because the plant opens at 7 a. m.

He punches a time clock at the employees' entrance of the wood and metal pattern department.

He puts on a workman's rough apron. They wear aprons instead of overalls in his department.

Then he works until the whistle blows for lunch. He lunches in the plant cafeteria.

Puts in Full Days

When the 45-minute lunch period is over, he goes back to his machine and stays there until the whistle blows for quitting time—4:45 p. m.

When Dodge started work officials of the plant put a desk out in the wood and metal pattern department so their apprentices could sit there quietly and watch what was going on.

But Dodge wasn't there to watch. He took a place at one of the machines and insisted on operating it.

"I've always loved machinery," Dodge says. "I can't learn too much about it."

"I'll never sit at an executive desk until I've learned all mechanical operations by actual contact. Thus far they've only let me work on a few machines, because my boss is afraid I might get hurt."

"My father could run any machine in this plant as well as any workman. Maybe I've inherited some mechanical ability from him—I hope so."

Will Make Rounds

When Dodge has learned all he can about the wood and metal pattern department, he'll move on to another department. For the present the young millionaire's "boss" is K. C. Dabo, head of the pattern department.

Dabo occasionally has to "bawl out" the millionaire workman—but only because of the young man's desire to work on machines that are forbidden to him, to do more than his allotted share.

But in point of efficiency and promptness Dodge is the best workman in the department, Dabo testifies.

"He's got the right stuff in him," says the department head. "The patterns he's turned out are unusually good."

Conscientious, Too

"And he's one of the most conscientious workmen in my department. He won't even lay off when he's ill—over even disobey his doctor's orders to get to work!"

Dodge draws paychecks regularly. He says he's going to have the first one framed.

"The hardest job of all is rolling out of bed in the morning," Dodge smiles. "But I manage to do it somehow."

"I've found my lifework. I'll take a lifetime to master everything there is to learn about this plant. You know it covers 100 acres of floor space."

"I'm beginning to look on my work as play nowadays and I have lots more fun than I would if I tried to pull through life doing nothing."

Threatening Fire in Business Section in Gorham Street Drives Many to Street—Smoke Fills Building—Capt. Cunningham and Firemen Mulvey and Malone Do Rescue Work.

A threatening cellar fire which for a time menaced a large block in the business district of the city and during which women were taken from the top floor, occurred last night in the four-story brick building in Gorham street, just opposite the postoffice. The building is owned by George J. Tenjan, of the firm of Tenjan & Co., and is occupied by a shoe store, a restaurant and about six families. It is believed the property damage will not exceed $5000.

The fire, according to Chief Saunders, started from the boiler in the cellar of the Johnson shoe store, owned by Louis Johnson and managed

Women Rescued at Fire That Threatened Gorham Street's Business Section—Fire Started Near Boiler—Loss Is Estimated at About $5000

Fire originating in the vicinity of a cellar boiler threatened the business district on Gorham street, near the postoffice last night, and caused so much smoke that several women occupying upper floors of the four-story building at No. 36, had to be taken down ladders to the street by firemen. The department had no difficulty in controlling the flames, although the actual property damage by fire, smoke and water may reach $5000, firemen say.

The flames were discovered by Mrs. Mary Peters, who lives on the second floor of the building, about 7 o'clock. She gave the alarm from one of the windows and Patrolman John H. Clark, who was in the street not far

Organic iron takes up oxygen from your lungs. MEMORIAL TO F. C. WELD AT HARVARD CLUB

A memorial to Frederick C. Weld, for several years prominent in the life of the Lowell Harvard club and president at the time of his death, was read at the time of the annual dinner of the club last evening at the York club.

Among the after-dinner speakers were Keith Kane, captain of the 1921 Harvard football team; Henry Penney, chairman of the committee on admission to the university; and Professor Archibald Davidson, who was director of the Harvard Glee club during the European tour last summer. President Richard Bradbrook Walsh presided as toastmaster. The committee in charge of the dinner consisted of James P. Conway, Benjamin P. Pouzner and Thorndike Trull.

INQUIRING ABOUT OLD RESIDENTS

The secretary of the American Irish Historical society of Lowell, since the society has come into being, has received more than a few queries from in town and outside regarding early families who settled here in the early days of the city. One of the queries for information as to the name of the father and mother of Jeremiah M. Murphy who was born in Lowell in 1835, and who, in the later years of his life, represented northern Iowa in congress. He died in Washington, D. C. in 1902. The name of Mr. Murphy came here in the town period and left Lowell in 1849 for Wisconsin, later settling near Davenport, Iowa. Who knows of this family? Mr. O'Dwyer, the secretary of the local historical society, wants the name of the parents and any other information of interest regarding the family. He is also anxious to get in touch with the descendants of Irish families who came here before 1840.

The banquet committee, James O'Sullivan, chairman, will make a definite report of the arrangements for an observance of March 17 at the meeting in Memorial hall next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The executive committee will also make a report at this meeting.

HARVARD ADMITS "KID" WEDGE

CAMBRIDGE, Feb. 16.—Fred R. (Kid) Wedge of Prescott, Ariz., 40 years old, former lumberjack and prize fighter, was admitted to Harvard university as a student of the graduate school of education yesterday. He had come across the country in box cars to register, only to find that he was uncertain of admission.

quest was granted. Mr. Hanley said there would be no political discussion and no newspaper controversy at the meeting of the Textile council. The textile council has no political fight on and is not interested in newspaper controversies. They are on strike against a 20 per cent. reduction of wages.

Mr. Regan said he believed an outline should be given to show what started the controversy. The superintendent would then know how to answer. Mr. Regan stated that they would like to know how it came about that a mob of police had been ordered before a strike vote was taken. The acting superintendent asked for the newspaper clippings to which reference was made. He understood there was one from a Boston paper, which he had not yet seen.

The Basis of Complaint

A clipping from the Lowell Courier-Citizen of Friday, February 10, was produced. This clipping made some references to the strike preparation, and had appended a list of police officers who had been assigned to routes, and which it was agreed had no bearing on the strike question. Mr. MacBrayne stated that usually in case of a strike the chief of police does not come before the strikers; he is, in fact, regarded as their enemy. In this case it has been different—the laboring man never had a better friend than the present acting chief, and an article printed in one of the papers Tuesday evening, he said, was malicious, and was not printed from public-spirited motives. It was his duty, he said, to protect the lives and property of all residents. He said he had never been one-sided, and everybody knows it. The statements had been printed in papers which had never been favorable to labor.

Quoting from the Courier-Citizen of February 10, relative to assigning officers to the Ray State corporation, he said that as chief of police, he was bound to take proper precautions. He had been asked by the corporation for six men, but had cut the number to three. These three were, he said, and unlike the gas house strike, the corporation is being made pay for their services. He said that he had instructed the officers assigned to this duty that there would probably be no trouble at this time. The officials had told him that there were no so-called foreigners waiting there, and a strike might occur, and might be outside to the scene, then making it necessary to protect the property. If there should be picketing, the police were to be accorded the same treatment as officers of the plant. He suggested that if possible, the police should wear some kind of tickets or badges, so the officers could recognize them.

In line out of ten cases where trouble has occurred in a strike it has been made by outsiders who are out of work and in sympathy with the strikers, but the strikers themselves have been blamed. For this reason he had suggested a tag for pickets.

Major MacBrayne said he is different from other chiefs of police. He said he is not "top-heavy" and has not to make a record of arrests. His tenure of office began, he has said, many people from being looked up. The office of superintendent of police is a public office, and when the superintendent does his duty, he is likely to hurt somebody; that is more true in this office than elsewhere. It is the duty of the people, whereas the ordinary chief regards himself above the people. Other chiefs would not dare to come before the textile workers in such a case. He has never ducked a fight, he said, and he did not duck it when the war broke out. He left his family to do his duty. The report writing these articles could not say the same thing.

He proceeded to outline the plan

LACK OF SUPPORT

Lawrence Chamber of Commerce to Disband Tonight

All chambers of commerce are not as fortunate as to be on as solid a basis as the local one, according to information coming from Lawrence, that the association there will disband tonight. Lack of support is given as the reason for the breaking up of the Lawrence chamber.

This information was yesterday imparted to Secretary Wells of the local chamber, who met one of the Lawrence officials in Boston. It has been known that for some time things had not been moving smoothly in Lawrence as far as chamber of commerce activities were concerned, but this latest move came as sort of a surprise to the local men.

FIRM BANKRUPT; MANAGER ARRESTED

HAVANA, Feb. 16.—Vega & Co., importing firm, is declared bankrupt and the arrest of the manager, Marcos Regal, ordered by the Cuban court of first instance.

The proceedings were brought by five creditors, one of whom was George Frost of Boston. The creditors charged that the company's assets, including merchandise valued at $350,000, against which they held a claim for $150,000 were being hustled into the hands of one of the firm.

The Havana representative of the International Clearing House of New York was named trustee.

No Change in Mill Strike

afternoon at 3 o'clock. The weavers, loomfixers and some other employees of the Hamilton Mfg. Co., which was shut down following a strike vote by the organized help of the plant, were also paid off at the office of the company in Jackson street this afternoon. The latest development at strike headquarters is that preparations are being made for a strenuous campaign to organize all textile workers here. The first meeting in connection with the campaign will be held this evening in Trades & Labor hall and will be open to the public. There will be speakers in attendance, will explain the benefits to be derived from unions connected with the United Textile Workers of America.

A committee has been appointed from the ranks of the Lowell Textile council to conduct the campaign and it will be continued until the textile workers in all the mills of the city are 100 per cent. organized. This committee has made arrangements with Sullivan & Sullivan, the new owners of the Crescent rink for the free use of the large hall for a public mass meeting on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 26, at 3 o'clock. International President Thomas F. McMahon and Mrs. Sarah Conboy, secretary-treasurer of the United Textile Workers of America, will be requested to address the meeting and it is believed both will accept the invitation. President McMahon is in Rhode Island, where he is leading the strike movement in that state, while Mrs. Conboy is in New York, after having spent a few days in Rhode Island.

The plan of the campaign is to conduct open meetings every afternoon for the unemployed and in the evenings for those who are working. This movement is being launched. It is said, in order to meet any action on the part of other local manufacturers in an attempt to reduce wages. "The organized operatives of Lowell," said John Hanley, who is in charge of the local strike, "have been preparing for a strike for some time, but the unorganized employed in the mills affected, were caught unaware. Now we do not want a repetition of this thing and we deem it our duty to gather under the banner of the United Textile Workers of America, all employees of cotton mills. I believe that before we are through with the campaign the few hundred of Lowell's operatives who are not connected with labor organizations, will wear the button of the U.T.W. of A." Regular meetings of the loomfixers and ring spinner users, who are out on strike, were held this forenoon in Loomfixers hall, City Hall avenue and Mr. Hanley was the principal speaker at both meetings. The reports given at the meetings showed that the Hamilton is making an effort to reopen its plant and that the strikers of the Ray State Cotton Corp. are standing firm.

An audit of the city's books for 1921, which not only will be the sole audit made this year for the city, but also will serve as a state audit, was begun today in the office of the city auditor by men of the division of accounts, state department of corporations and taxation, Theodore Waddell, director.

In recent years Everett E. Tarbox has been engaged by the city to make the annual audit, but it was announced today that he would not be retained this year and that the audit now under way would serve in the dual capacity of city and state audit.

In charge of the work is J. F. Rockett, with T. J. Shea as assistant, but more auditors will come to this city to help in the work just as soon as they become available in the office of the division.

As far as could be learned today some contract was made last year with Director Waddell to send his men in to make an audit this year. The state is entitled to make an audit of the city's books once every three years, but no such audit has been made for some time, it is said.

Mr. Rockett was unable to say how long a time would be necessary for the audit. He will begin his work in the office of the treasurer.

COUNCIL PRESIDENT MAKES STATEMENT

President Patrick J. Bagley, of the city council said today that he would call a special meeting of the council to take action relative to a reinstatement of Redmond Welch as superintendent of police, if the supreme court denied the petition for writs of mandamus, whenever the hearing before Justice Jenny might be held.

"Not that I anticipate what action the council would take on the matter," said President Bagley, "but I believe the public wants the case settled as quickly as possible and I believe immediate action would be warranted." The matter, however, seems contingent upon whether or not counsel for the mayor and Mr. MacBrayne take the case to the full supreme bench in case

EPIDEMIC OF FIRES IN MASSACHUSETTS

There has been an epidemic of fires in Massachusetts since the first of the year and the fire losses throughout the country are already $2,000,000 greater than a year ago, says the Massachusetts safety council in a letter to Mayor George H. Brown, received today.

The council has appointed a committee of fire experts, headed by Chief Peter E. Walsh, of the Boston fire department, to study the problem, and this committee has written to inquire to what extent the local fire department makes an inspection of fire hazards outside of private dwellings and as to whether there is sufficient power by ordinance to enforce recommendations that may be made.

The committee in its investigations has already found carelessness as the cause of many fires that have occurred from overheated stoves and furnaces and warns the public not to set temporary heaters near beds, curtains or other inflammable material and to keep rubbish away from furnaces that are likely to become overheated.

LOWELL COMMANDERY KNIGHTS OF MALTA

Members of Lowell commandery, Knights of Malta held a ladies' night in Odd Fellows hall, Middlesex street last night. A feature of the evening was the presentation of a past commander's jewel and a bouquet to Assistant Recorder Nelson C. Hill and Mrs. Hill by Past Commander Henry Wisley. The first number on the program was a chicken pie supper and was followed by entertainment numbers given by Daniel W. Hinkley, Philippe Lord, Harry Leavitt, Frank Orrell, Alpha Male, quartet, Miss Vivian Curran, Miss Eleanor Ross, Raoul McLaughlin, George Webber, Stanley Webber, Fred Cummings, Miss Harriet Mansur and Walter Leonard. The committee in charge consisted of Frank A. Smith, chairman; V. Lance Morrill, George Hickey, James Tison and John Kershaw.

MAYOR IN FAVOR OF SEWER WORK

Mayor George H. Brown said today that he has not had much opportunity to study the proposed order to be introduced in the city council tonight by Counselor John J. McFadden relative of an immediate appropriation from the general treasury fund of $20,000 for the street department in order that employment may be given men now out of work, but that it is his feeling that sewer work is the most advisable, inasmuch as that would not some return to the city for the money expended.

"It would seem to me," said the mayor, "that the board of public service should determine whether or not the money could be wisely spent at this time. The only street work possible now is sewer removal, but that gives the city no real return. The sewer department, however, is closed down for lack of funds and I should think the order could better be presented in the form of a loan and sewer work thus reopened."

The society is planning a fine entertainment as is shown. HELD THEIR FIRST ANNUAL DANCE

The employees of the C. F. Hatch Co. thoroughly enjoyed their first annual dance held last night in the Highland club. The party was sort of a Valentine affair with decorations suitable to the occasion. A feature of the evening was the large red heart suspended over the center of the floor, which when released, sent a shower of confetti down upon the fun-makers.

The grand march was led by A. B. Hatch and Miss Ursula Sawyer. Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hatch also took a prominent part in the affair. The officers of the party included: Solon S. Mason, general manager; Ursula Sawyer, assistant general manager; Guy Hurd, floor director; Anna O'Leary, assistant floor director; John Ward, treasurer; Freda Kenney, chief aid. FIREHOUSE WOULD COST $35,000

It is the estimate of Chief Edward F. Saunders of the fire department that a bungalow type firehouse in the Oaklands would cost approximately $35,000 at the present time. The erection of such a house in the section of the city was discussed in the recommendations of the chief, accepted recently by the fire prevention committee of the chamber of commerce.

Yesterday, many of the Jencks employees were notified to report for work today, if they wished to retain their positions.

SAYS SEC. MELLON HOLDS OFFICE ILLEGALLY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Secretary Mellon is holding the office of secretary of the treasury in violation of the law and can be arrested for retaining the place if anyone sees fit to swear out a warrant charging him with the offense, Senator Watson, democrat, Georgia, declared in the senate late yesterday.

The law, which Mr. Mellon is violating, Senator Watson said, prohibits the secretary of the treasury from engaging in any kind of business or commerce.

Senator Watson told the senate that Mr. Mellon could be impeached "any time we see fit," and he read to the senate the provision of section 243 of the revised statute, which he declared expressly forbids Mr. Mellon to retain his place. He declared that by staying in office the secretary was violating the law, adding that it was generally known that Mr. Mellon was one of the wealthiest individuals in the country.

He informed the senate that the law, now listed as section 243, was passed in the first congress in the United States and that during the administration of President Grant, A. T. Stewart had withdrawn after being named secretary of the treasury when attention was called to provisions of the act.

Mr. Watson said that Mr. Stewart had resigned three days after his nomination by the senate and after President Grant had learned of the provisions of the law.

"And if Mr. Stewart resigned," said the senator, "why should not Mr. Mellon resign? Why should he continue in office in open violation of the law? He knows it, so does President Harding know it and the republican party is going to answer for it this fall for I do not believe the people will stand for open violation of the law by a member of the cabinet when persons throughout the country are prosecuted for trivial offenses."

VERY PLEASING SONG RECITAL

A delightful song recital was given in the parlors of the Ad. Sons' church last evening by Albert Edmund Brown, baritone. It was unfortunate indeed that the weather was not more in tune with the concert, for it was of such quality as to deserve an unlimited audience. However, many did attend and this alone is a splendid encomium to Mr. Brown's ability.

The singer had selected a program that included through many methods. He began with the "Honor and Arms" recitative and aria from the oratorio Samson and brought his recital to a close with a spirited rendition of a group of Kipling songs.

Mr. Brown was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Brown, whose colorful interpretation of text and rhythmic requirements greatly enhanced the program.

POISON IN EPSOM SALTS KILLS FIVE

CENTRALIA, Wash., Feb. 16.—The package of epsom salts from which Mrs. Edward Rhodes of Klabor, Wash., administered doses to five children last Saturday after which all five died, contained about 10 per cent poison, according to Herman Allen, prosecuting attorney, following an analysis by the state chemist.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made

Here's an easy way to cure a cough, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep home without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, breaks the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction, or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

HOME BREW HITS TORONTO BREWERS

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—Toronto brewers have asked the government for protection against the home-made beverage. Many men employed by beer manufacturers have been laid off recently because of home brew competition.

Under the Ontario law, beer with an alcoholic content of 2½ per cent is regarded as "temperance beer."

The brewers complain that their product cannot compete with home-made beer of unlimited alcoholic content.

BALFOUR PAYS TRIBUTE

Says World Owes Debt of Gratitude to Government of United States

LONDON, Feb. 15.—(By the Associated Press) Arthur J. Balfour, officially welcomed home today from the Washington conference at a luncheon by the government and coalition members of both houses of parliament, declared that "the world owes an unaccountable debt of gratitude to the government of the United States."

Prime Minister Lloyd George, presiding at the luncheon, paid a striking tribute to Mr. Balfour.

COTTONEED PRODUCTS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The cottonseed products report for the six months period, Aug. 1 to Jan. 31, issued today by the census bureau, showed:

Cottonseed crushed 2,328,402 tons, compared with 2,567,163, and on hand 418,312 tons, compared with 186,760.

Linters produced 305,515 bales, compared with 295,673, and on hand 153,523 bales, compared with 251,283.

Exports of linters were 65,055 bales, compared with 15,759.

BARTENDERS GET JOBS

Appointment to Park Department Causes Sharp Debate in Buffalo

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 16.—Appointment of 16 former saloon-keepers and bartenders to positions in the park department, has caused one of the sharpest debates that has marked the somewhat stormy career of the present city council.

Responding to criticisms, Commissioner Meahl, of the park department, said he did not make a practice of appointing saloon-keepers, but "if they are out of work and respectable, they will receive the same consideration as other persons."

Mayor Frank N. Schuch, former brewer, elected on a "wet" platform, supported Commissioner Meahl.

"I never knew before that a saloon-keeper had such a criminal record," said the mayor. "Abraham Lincoln, my father said, was a saloon-keeper. He had a store and sold liquor. George Washington was a saloon-keeper. He went to jail and was still there at Mount Vernon. Why discriminate against a saloon-keeper?"

Stretch, biggest bird in the world, has proportionately the smallest brain.

STATE INCOME TAX TIPS

Ten Days More in Which to File Before Penalty Period

The public is commencing to flock to the state income tax office in The Sun building to file their returns. There are but ten days in which to file before the first of March and after that date the reports are late and are subject to a penalty under the law of $5 for each day late.

The requirements are practically the same as last year. Persons receiving any amount of interest from certain bonds or notes, dividends from certain stocks, gains from the sale of intangible property, annuities, salary or business income of more than $2000, or total income from all sources of more than $2000, are required to make a report. In other words, a 1922 return should be filed, first, when any amount of taxable interest, dividends, salary, or annuities was received, second, when the business income or salary exceeded $2000, third, when the total income from all sources, both taxable and tax-exempt, exceeded $2000.

Provisional payment of the tax may be made at the time of filing, although payment is not compulsory at this time.

The law is the same as formerly in regard to local exemptions and deductions, a single person being allowed an exemption against business income of $2000. The family deductions have not changed, $500 being allowed on account of the wife or husband of the taxpayer, $250 for each child under 15 years of age and for each parent entirely dependent upon the taxpayer for support; with the limit of family deductions set at $1000.

State and Federal Taxes Confused

It appears that some people still confuse the federal tax with the Massachusetts income tax. The federal returns are taken at the post-office building and the state has a permanent office in The Sun building.

DEFEND SECRETARY MELLON'S ACCEPTANCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Having his views on legal advice, Secretary Mellon considers that he has not contravened the law prohibiting the secretary of the treasury from engaging in commerce or business. It was declared today by high administration officials in commenting on the attack on the secretary made yesterday by Senator Watson, democrat, Georgia.

The law was called to Mr. Mellon's attention, officials said, when he was considering the invitation of President Harding to join the cabinet. A number of legal authorities gave the opinion that the mere ownership of stock in corporations did not constitute engaging, directly or indirectly, in commerce or business.

TO LAY NEW CABLE

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—A new cable from New York to France by way of the Azores, will be laid as soon as possible by the Commercial Cable Co., the stockholders were informed today in the annual report of President Clarence H. Mackay. Applications have been filed with the United States, Portuguese and French governments for permission to land the line in their respective territories, he said.

LOWELL GAIETIC SCHOOL

John and Christopher O'Sullivan were in charge of last evening's session of the Lowell Gaietic school. There was a large attendance despite the storm. It was announced that a ladies' night will be conducted this evening under the auspices of the organization and it was voted that the class meet again next Sunday night.

14,434 BOYS AND GIRLS OF 15 YEARS MARRIED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Sixteen hundred boys and 12,834 girls, 15 years of age, in the United States were listed as married in 1920, the census bureau announced today. Eighty-two boys and 109 girls of the same age were recorded as widowed or divorced.

The analysis revealed a distinct increase during recent years or since the 1910 census in the percentage of married persons for each year of age from 15 to 34, especially among the younger members of this group. The age group from 15 to 19 inclusive, also showed an increase in the ratio of married persons in the decade, although less pronounced, especially among the women, while the proportion for persons 45 years of age and older showed a decrease.

In 1920 the figures show 3222 boys of 16 years, or three-tenths of 1 per cent of the total of that age, compared with one-tenth of 1 per cent in 1910 were married, while those 17 years of age married numbered 7695, or eight-tenths of 1 per cent of the total of that age compared with half that proportion 10 years previously.

The number of married at 15 years of age increased from 15,321 or 1.1 per cent of the total male population at that age, in 1910, to 21,011, or 2.1 per cent of the corresponding total in 1920.

The number of married girls 16 years of age increased from 34,829, or 3.7 per cent of the total female population at that age in 1910, to 41,624, or 4.2 per cent of the corresponding total in 1920. The number married at 17 years of age increased from 75,687, or 8.7 per cent, to 90,510, or 9.8 per cent; the number 18 years of age from 156,469 or 17 per cent to 186,616, or 19.2 per cent; and the number 19 years of age increased from 221,576 or 25.2 per cent, to 261,507, or 28.6 per cent.

The statistics showed the number of single persons more than 50 years of age was 1,440,514, including 501,104 men and 638,168 women.

TO CUT FREIGHT RATES

CORLAND, Me., Feb. 16.—The National railroad today announced that a 10 per cent reduction in freight rates on agricultural commodities from Maine to all southern points will become effective next Monday. It has been approved by the interstate commerce commission.

WOMAN DIES IN WORST STORM OF WINTER

BOSTON, Feb. 16.—The winter's most severe snow storm in Greater Boston claimed one victim today when Miss Edith Nasor, 45 years old, fell exhausted in front of a motion picture theater in the Roxbury district and died before the arrival of a physician. Two storming within 24 hours with a total precipitation of more than seven inches of snow was the record here. The first storm ceased before Bostonians went to bed last night, but when they got up this morning snow was again falling. Today's storm was over at noon.

The forecast was for clear weather and a cold wave.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS IMPROVE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Business conditions throughout the country are better than they were a year ago, in view of treasury officials who declared, however, that the improvement has been gradual and there was no immediate prospect of a sudden pickup in business activities.

Buenos Aires has more than 500 drug stores and more than 500 perfume shops and beauty parlors.

Harding Must Submit Treaty Facts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The resolution asking President Harding for full information regarding the negotiations of the Four power Pacific treaty was adopted by the senate today after a debate in which the arms conference policies were discussed generally for the first time on the senate floor.

Ritter Held on Murder Charge

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 16.—Rudolph Ritter, civil engineer for whom police started a nation-wide search after the murder last July of Arthur A. Woodbury, Wallham, Mass., salesman, has been arrested at Chicago, the district attorney's office announced this afternoon. He will be brought back to Buffalo tomorrow. Woodbury's body was found lying in a field six miles east of Erie about a month after he disappeared from a hotel here. He had been robbed and murdered.

Church Wheeled to Death Cell

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Harvey Church was wheeled to the death cell in the county jail on a stretcher today to spend the last 24 hours before going to the gallows tomorrow to pay with his life, for the death of two men murdered in order to obtain an automobile. Church, who has been horribly fed through a tube for several days after going on a hunger strike, fought viciously as his guards wheeled him down the corridors. It is planned to wheel him to the gallows and strap him in a chair on the trap.
